

Japan Credit Rating Agency, Ltd. (JCR) announces the following credit rating.

PT Integrasi Jaringan Ekosistem (security code: -)

<Assignment>

Foreign Currency Long-term Issuer Rating: BBB+
Outlook: Stable

Rationale

- (1) PT Integrasi Jaringan Ekosistem (WEAVE) is an Indonesian telecommunications infrastructure company jointly invested in by PT Solusi Sinergi Digital Tbk (SURGE), which is listed on the Indonesia Stock Exchange, and Japan's NTT EAST, with the aim of expanding FTTH-based internet access services in Indonesia. By leveraging its core optical backbone network, which runs along the railway lines of the state-owned PT Kereta Api Indonesia (KAI), WEAVE aims to provide broad coverage of low-cost, high-quality fixed broadband (FBB) services in suburban areas. The rating reflects the following five factors: WEAVE's strong business foundation, which enables access to suburban users amid limited competition by leveraging its existing backbone network; its high profitability, arising from lower investment per contract through the use of local partner companies; comprehensive support from NTT EAST, which enhances the feasibility of FBB service expansion; a relatively sound financial profile underpinned by the aforementioned factors; and a conservative financial management policy. On the other hand, the rating is constrained by uncertainties as to whether contract acquisition will progress as planned, given expectations for a substantial increase in the number of contracts.
- (2) The parent company, SURGE, was founded in 2012 and originated with digital media services within trains and stations through a partnership with KAI. WEAVE was established in 2018 to develop an optical backbone network on Java Island, which commenced operations in 2023. In 2025, NTT EAST, through its subsidiary NTT e-Asia, subscribed to a capital increase in WEAVE, acquiring a 49% equity stake, thereby forming a strategic and comprehensive partnership that includes extensive support in capital, management, human resources, technology, and training. To help advance Indonesia's national agenda of closing the digital divide, SURGE is promoting FBB services through both 5G FWA (via its subsidiary PT Telemedia Komunikasi Pratama - TKP) and FTTH (via WEAVE). WEAVE's optical backbone network is utilized for both approaches.
- (3) FTTH-based FBB services constitute WEAVE's core business, accounting for more than 80% of EBITDA at the end of FY2025. Its standard plan offers unlimited data with a maximum speed of 200 Mbps at a monthly fee of IDR 100,000 (approx. JPY 1,000). The number of acquired contracts has been steadily increasing, reaching 2 million home-passes and 1.2 million subscriptions at the end of FY2025. The low pricing of FBB services is supported by WEAVE's efficient operating model that minimizes investment costs through the use of local partner companies, as well as its partnership with NTT EAST, which brings technical expertise. Partner companies share revenue with WEAVE and receive a stable long-term income in the form of a fixed percentage of fees from customer contracts generated through the FTTH infrastructure they install. Their responsibility for contract acquisition and subsequent maintenance is believed to contribute to high contract and retention rates. NTT EAST has been providing technical support to WEAVE since July 2024, and following its investment in 2025, their knowledge sharing in FTTH construction, operation, maintenance, and deployment has further deepened.
- (4) WEAVE's performance has been supported by an increasing number of FBB contracts. Revenue and EBITDA at the end of FY2025 reached IDR 1,258 billion (2.9 times YoY) and IDR 922 billion (2.6 times YoY), respectively, with a high EBITDA margin of 73.5%. The company's financial profile remains sound, supported by the capital injection from NTT EAST. As of the end of FY2025, the net debt/EBITDA ratio and debt-to-capital ratio were 2.1 times and 1.3 times, respectively, staying comfortably within its long-term financial targets (≤ 2.5 times and ≤ 1.75 times). Major investments in the core optical backbone network have largely been completed, and future investments related to FBB expansion are also moderated through the revenue-sharing structure with partner companies. Capital expenditures are expected to remain broadly within the range of operating cash flow. While uncertainties remain regarding the pace of contract acquisition and the potential need for increased support to partner companies, JCR believes the company can maintain adequate profitability and manage its financial profile within the target range.

The Main Assumptions and Principles used in Constructing the Procedures and Methodologies used to Determine the Credit Rating as Required by Paragraph (a)(1)(ii)(C) of Rule 17g-7

- The credit rating methodology assumes, in principle, to be applied to assess the likelihood of a given debt payment in light of its issuer's condition and business environment, etc. in the relevant future. There is certain limitation, however, in the time horizon that the rating foresees.
- The credit rating methodology assumes, in principle, that the factors posted in the below are particularly important for such likelihood to be determined, and that the rating determination is made by evaluating each of them not only quantitatively but also employing qualitative analyses.

A) Business Bases

The likelihood of a given debt payment is highly conditional to its issuer's business bases - how they can be maintained/ expanded into the future and thereby secure earnings and cash flows in adequacy and in a sustainable way.

B) Financial Grounds and Asset Quality

The likelihood of debt payment is highly dependent on the degree of the issuer's indebtedness and loss absorption capacity in terms of equity capital. Also notable is that a financial institution might see a significant loss of financial grounds as a result of changes in value of the assets under its possession.

C) Liquidity Positions

The likelihood of debt payment is highly dependent on the adequacy of the issuer's cash and other sources of repayment (liquidity positions).

D) Related Parties' Status and Stance of Support/ Assistance for the Issuer

The likelihood of debt payment is affected one way or the other by the issuer's related parties such as parent company, subsidiary, guarantor, and the government of the issuer's business domicile, etc. - by their own conditions and/ or position of support/ assistance for the issuer.

E) Order of Seniority in Debt Payment

The likelihood of debt payment can be different between given debts of the same issuer. The likelihood of debt payment for an individual debt is dependent on the issuer's discretion, and/ or its rank relative to other debts of the same issuer in the order of seniority in principal/ interest payment which is determined by design as financial product or by laws, etc.

4 The Potential Limitations of the Credit Rating as Required by Paragraph (a)(1)(ii)(D) of Rule 17g-7

- The credit rating herewith presented by JCR is its summary opinion with regard to the likelihood of given debt payment and hence not necessarily a perfect representation of such likelihood. The credit rating is not intended to estimate the probability of default or the loss on given default, either.
- The objective of the credit rating herewith presented does not include any concerns other than the likelihood of debt payment, such as risks of price changes, market liquidity, etc.
- The credit rating herewith presented is necessary to be reviewed along with possible changes of the issuer of rated objects in its business performance and/ or circumstances which include regulatory environment, and hence subject to possible alteration.

The resultant alteration of the credit rating is usually by a notch, with possibility of a few notches if and when the change in the business bases is large.

B) Financial Grounds and Asset Quality

The credit rating is subject to alteration if the issuer increases/ decreases its debt/ capital or vice versa and thereby makes its individual debt payment liability less or more bearable and its loss absorption capacity into the future decreased or increased. Also, the changes in the quality of asset under the issuer's holding may affect the credit rating, since such changes could raise or lower the likelihood of future loss of the issuer's financial grounds. The resultant alteration of the credit rating is usually by a notch, with possibility of a few notches if and when the change in the financial grounds and/ or asset quality is large.

C) Liquidity Positions

The credit rating is subject to alteration if there is a change in the issuer's financial management policy or in the relations with fund procurement sources and the change thereby makes its liquidity positions improve or deteriorate. The resultant alteration of the credit rating is usually a notch, with possibility of a few notches if and when the change is large.

E) Order of Seniority in Debt Payment and Non-Payment Forgiven by Contract

The credit rating is subject to alteration if there is a change in the rated debt's status in the order of seniority relative to other debts caused by the improvement/ deterioration of the issuer's financial condition. The resultant alteration of the credit rating is usually a notch, with possibility of a few notches if and when the change is large. Also, in case of the financial products for which non-payment of interest/ principal is contractually permissible, the credit rating is subject to alteration if and when the likelihood of such non-payment is projected to increase or decrease. The resultant alteration of the credit rating could be by a notch but often as much as a few notches.

The credit rating is subject to alteration if there is a rise/ fall in the general economy and/ or the markets inducing the issuer's revenues/ expenses to increase/ decrease and vice versa, etc. The resultant alteration of the credit rating is usually by a notch, with possibility of a few notches if and when the change is exceptionally large.
