

Japan Credit Rating Agency, Ltd. (JCR) announces the following credit rating.

Star Asia Investment Corporation (security code: 3468)

<Affirmation>

Long-term Issuer Rating:	A
Outlook:	Stable
Bonds:	A

Rationale

- (1) Star Asia Investment Corporation (“SAR”) is a diversified J-REIT investing in offices, retail facilities, residences, logistics facilities, hotels and student-only residences. It is sponsored by Star Asia Management LLC, and its assets are managed by Star Asia Investment Management Co., Ltd. (“AM”). It merged Sakura Sogo REIT Investment Corporation (“SSR”) in August 2020, thereby significantly expanding the asset size. The current portfolio consists of 63 properties with the total acquisition price of 194.8 billion yen, centering on middle-size assets (properties with acquisition prices of less than 10 billion yen) in the Tokyo area (Tokyo’s 23 wards and the cities of Kawasaki and Yokohama for offices and retail facilities; Tokyo and the prefectures of Kanagawa, Saitama and Chiba for residences, logistics facilities, hotels and student-only residences). By asset type, it is accounted for 38.4% by offices, 19.4% by residences, 15.6% by logistics facilities, 12.4% by hotels and 14.2% retail facilities based on the acquisition price.
- (2) Portfolio management has been generally steady, as shown by the appraisal NOI yield of 4.9% and occupancy rate of 97.2% for the fiscal period ended July 2022. SAR is also constantly pursuing external growth, as part of which it acquired a total of 10 new properties partly through public offerings in August of 2021 and 2022. While profitability has been stagnant for some properties, including hotels whose rent is linked to earnings, occupancy rates for single-type residences and rent gaps for offices have improved. Given also progress in the expansion of asset size and diversification of properties and tenants, JCR considers that stability is reasonably ensured for the entire portfolio. On the financial front, factors like the details of debt financing and status of LTV control indicate that sound financial management is continued. Based on the above, JCR affirmed the rating on SAR and retained the Stable outlook.
- (3) For external growth, SAR acquired a total of 7 properties, i.e. 2 offices, 1 retail facility and 4 residences, in August 2021 for 12.9 billion yen, which was generally in line with its investment policy of prioritizing the Tokyo area, diversifying asset types and investing primarily in middle-size assets. In August 2022, it acquired a part of a complex facility (retail facilities portion and the whole of the hotel portion of the sectional ownership building) and 1 office for 15.1 billion yen with an aim to achieve internal growth and stabilize earnings in anticipation of the end of the COVID crisis. JCR will keep watching progress in external growth partly through pipeline support from the sponsor group going forward, too. As for internal growth, continued attention will be paid to trends in office/residential leasing and rent revisions, the status of hotel management, adequate capital expenditures for aging properties (the current portfolio’s average age: 24.1 years), etc.
- (4) Total asset-based book-value LTV has grown a bit from 46.0% as of July 31, 2021 to 46.6% following the August 2022 acquisitions but still is controlled within the range assumed by AM of around 45 to 50%. Unrealized gains on the portfolio as a financial buffer amounted to 16.2 billion yen as of July 31, 2022 (unrealized gain ratio: 9.0%). Retained earnings (8.88 billion yen as of July 31, 2022), including negative goodwill associated with the merger with SSR, are also expected to contribute to flexible dividend policies and asset management. In terms of financing, while dealing mainly with Sumitomo Mitsui Banking Corporation and Mizuho Bank, Ltd. as in the past, SAR has started making transactions with six new lenders very recently. Given also such achievements as extending the average remaining period (3 years as of July 31, 2022) and raising fixed-interest debt ratio (88.4% as of the same date), JCR finds no particular concerns about SAR’s financing.

3

The Main Assumptions and Principles used in Constructing the Procedures and Methodologies used to Determine the Credit Rating as Required by Paragraph (a)(1)(ii)(C) of Rule 17g-7

- The credit rating methodology assumes, in principle, to be applied to assess the likelihood of a given debt payment in light of its issuer's condition and market environment, etc. in the relevant future. There is certain limitation, however, in the time horizon that the rating foresees
- The credit rating methodology assumes, in principle, that the factors posted in the below are particularly important for such likelihood to be determined, and that the rating determination is made by evaluating each of them not only quantitatively but also employing qualitative analyses.

A) Portfolios

The likelihood of a given debt payment is highly conditional to its issuer's portfolios - how they can be maintained/ enhanced into the future and thereby secure earnings and cash flows in adequacy and in a sustainable way.

B) Financial Grounds and Asset Quality

The likelihood of debt payment is highly dependent on the degree of the issuer's indebtedness and loss absorption capacity in terms of equity capital. Also notable is that a J-REIT might see a significant loss of financial grounds as a result of changes in value of the assets under its possession.

C) Liquidity Positions

The likelihood of debt payment is highly dependent on the adequacy of the issuer's cash and other sources of repayment (liquidity positions) including certainty of refinancing.

D) Related Parties' Status and Stance of Support/ Assistance for the Issuer

The likelihood of debt payment is affected one way or the other by the issuer's related parties such as sponsor, asset manager, guarantor, and the government of the issuer's business domicile, etc. - by their own conditions and/ or position of support/ assistance for the issuer.

E) Order of Seniority in Debt Payment

The likelihood of debt payment can be different between given debts of the same issuer. The likelihood of debt payment for an individual debt is dependent on the issuer's discretion, and/ or its rank relative to other debts of the same issuer in the order of seniority in principal/ interest payment which is determined by design as financial product or by laws, etc.

4 The Potential Limitations of the Credit Rating as Required by Paragraph (a)(1)(ii)(D) of Rule 17g-7

- The credit rating herewith presented by JCR is its summary opinion with regard to the likelihood of given debt payment and hence not necessarily a perfect representation of such likelihood. The credit rating is not intended to estimate the probability of default or the loss on given default, either.
- The objective of the credit rating herewith presented does not include any concerns other than the likelihood of debt payment, such as risks of price changes, market liquidity, etc.
- The credit rating herewith presented is necessary to be reviewed along with possible changes of the issuer of rated objects in its business performance and/ or circumstances which include regulatory environment, and hence subject to possible alteration.

11 Explanation or Measure of the Potential Volatility of the Credit Rating as Required by Paragraph (a)(1)(ii)(K) of Rule 17g-7

A) Portfolios

The credit rating is subject to alteration if there is improvement or deterioration of quality, competitive strength and diversification in the issuer's portfolios, since its revenue, etc. may improve or deteriorate by the change in its investment strategies, tenants' preferences, competitive situation, or a technological innovation. The resultant alteration of the credit rating is usually by a notch, with possibility of a few notches if and when the change in the portfolios is large.

B) Financial Grounds and Asset Quality

The credit rating is subject to alteration if the issuer increases/ decreases its debt/ capital or vice versa and thereby makes its individual debt payment liability less or more bearable and its loss absorption capacity into the future decreased or increased. Also, the changes in the quality of asset under the issuer's holding may affect the credit rating, since such changes could raise or lower the likelihood of future loss of the issuer's financial grounds. The resultant alteration of the credit rating is usually by a notch, with possibility of a few notches if and when the change in the financial grounds and/ or asset quality is large.

C) Liquidity Positions

The credit rating is subject to alteration if there is a change in the issuer's financial management policy or in the relations with fund procurement sources and the change thereby makes its liquidity positions improve or deteriorate. The resultant alteration of the credit rating is usually by a notch, with possibility of a few notches if and when the change is large.

D) Related Parties' Status and Stance of Support/ Assistance for the Issuer

The credit rating is subject to alteration if there is a change in the issuer's sponsor or asset manager, guarantor or other provider of credit enhancement, or the government of the issuer's business domicile, or other related parties' own conditions and/ or position of support/ assistance for the issuer, and the change thereby makes its portfolios, financial grounds and/ or liquidity positions improve or deteriorate, and/ or making the effectiveness of guarantee and other credit enhancement improve or deteriorate. The resultant alteration of the credit rating is usually a notch, with possibility of a few notches if and when the change is large.

E) Order of Seniority in Debt Payment and Non-Payment Forgiven by Contract

The credit rating is subject to alteration if there is a change in the rated debt's status in the order of seniority relative to other debts caused by the improvement/ deterioration of the issuer's financial condition. The resultant alteration of the credit rating is usually a notch, with possibility of a few notches if and when the change is large. Also, in case of the financial products for which non-payment of interest/ principal is contractually permissible, the credit rating is subject to alteration if and when the likelihood of such non-payment is projected to increase or decrease. The resultant alteration of the credit rating could be by a notch but often as much as a few notches.

F) Rise and Fall in General Economy and Markets

The credit rating is subject to alteration if there is a rise/ fall in the general economy and/ or the markets, of e.g. real estate or interest rates, inducing the issuer's revenues/ expenses to increase/ decrease and vice versa, etc. The resultant alteration of the credit rating is usually by a notch, with possibility of a few notches if and when the change is exceptionally large.

G) Various Events

The credit rating is subject to alteration on occurrence of various events, such as change in the issuer's sponsor or asset manager, M&A and other organizational change, accident, violation of the law, litigation, legal/ regulatory change, natural disaster, etc., which are unforeseeable at the time when the credit rating is determined, causing a significant change on the issuer's business bases, financial grounds, etc. The resultant alteration of the credit rating could be by a notch but more often than not as much as a few notches.
