

Japan Credit Rating Agency, Ltd. (JCR) announces the following credit rating.

Advance Residence Investment Corporation (security code: 3269)

<Affirmation>

Long-term Issuer Rating: AA
Outlook: Stable
Bonds: AA

Rationale

- (1) Advance Residence Investment Corporation (“ADR”) is a residential J-REIT sponsored by the ITOCHU Group. Its asset manager (“AM”) is ITOCHU REIT Management Co., Ltd. As of the end of July 2022, ADR’s portfolio consists of 277 properties with 21,853 leasable units, and its total acquisition price is 468.7 billion yen, the largest among residential J-REITs. By area, properties in Tokyo 23 Wards account for 71% (based on an acquisition price); and by type, single and compact types in total account for 64% (based on a leasable area).
- (2) ADR’s leasing business operations have been robust. The occupation rate of the entire portfolio tentatively dropped to 95.2% due to the COVID-19 pandemic, but recovered to 96.7% in January 2023, partly thanks to relaxation of application conditions, such as suppressing increases in rents. In addition to a highly diversified portfolio in terms of properties and tenants maintained, JCR can confirm track records including the NOI yield on an acquisition price basis staying in the mid-5% range (5.7% for the period ended July 2022). JCR hence sees that ADR will be able to continue to ensure stable portfolio cash flow. Moreover, JCR believes that ADR’s sound financial management is continuing, given its stable total assets-based LTV, among others. Based on the above, JCR has affirmed the ratings on ADR with Stable outlook.
- (3) With respect to external growth, ADR has been continuing its efforts to maintain the goals at the time of property acquisition. After the period ended July 2022, ADR sold RESIDIA Kami-Ikebukuro and Tokyo Student-House Wako, while it acquired RESIDIA Kotoen, RESIDIA Tamatsukuri and RESIDIA Kumamoto Karashima. ADR thereby is working to strengthen the stability of its cash flow with external growth of its portfolio. JCR will observe whether the external growth will keep progressing in line with the goals at the time of acquisition (such as securing an NOI yield of around 4% after depreciation), through selective investments centered on the sponsor pipelines. In terms of internal growth, the AM’s engineering department, etc. have carried out large repair works and value enhancement works to maintain and strengthen the competitiveness of properties. JCR will follow up on the ongoing efforts aimed at further strengthening of portfolio cash flow, including large repair works for responding to aging and value enhancement works for competitiveness improvement.
- (4) The total asset-based LTV and appraisal LTV, stand respectively at 49.0% and 33.9% at end-July 2022, controlled within the AM’s scope of assumption. The portfolio’s unrealized gain, a financial buffer, amounts to 235.2 billion yen (unrealized gain ratio: 53.7%) as of the same date. There are no particular concerns over stability in financing, as shown by the maintained lender formation mainly consisting of megabanks, lengthened average remaining years of debts, staggered maturities, access to direct financing through issuance of investment corporation bonds including green bonds, and establishment of a commitment line of 20 billion yen. In addition, ADR secures a certain level of flexibility in asset management, including the dividend policy, through reserves for temporary difference adjustments (balance after dividend payments for the fiscal period ended July 2022: 29.5 billion yen), which were transferred from gains on negative goodwill generated upon its merger.

3

The Main Assumptions and Principles used in Constructing the Procedures and Methodologies used to Determine the Credit Rating as Required by Paragraph (a)(1)(ii)(C) of Rule 17g-7

- The credit rating methodology assumes, in principle, to be applied to assess the likelihood of a given debt payment in light of its issuer's condition and market environment, etc. in the relevant future. There is certain limitation, however, in the time horizon that the rating foresees
- The credit rating methodology assumes, in principle, that the factors posted in the below are particularly important for such likelihood to be determined, and that the rating determination is made by evaluating each of them not only quantitatively but also employing qualitative analyses.

A) Portfolios

The likelihood of a given debt payment is highly conditional to its issuer's portfolios - how they can be maintained/ enhanced into the future and thereby secure earnings and cash flows in adequacy and in a sustainable way.

B) Financial Grounds and Asset Quality

The likelihood of debt payment is highly dependent on the degree of the issuer's indebtedness and loss absorption capacity in terms of equity capital. Also notable is that a J-REIT might see a significant loss of financial grounds as a result of changes in value of the assets under its possession.

C) Liquidity Positions

The likelihood of debt payment is highly dependent on the adequacy of the issuer's cash and other sources of repayment (liquidity positions) including certainty of refinancing.

D) Related Parties' Status and Stance of Support/ Assistance for the Issuer

The likelihood of debt payment is affected one way or the other by the issuer's related parties such as sponsor, asset manager, guarantor, and the government of the issuer's business domicile, etc. - by their own conditions and/ or position of support/ assistance for the issuer.

E) Order of Seniority in Debt Payment

The likelihood of debt payment can be different between given debts of the same issuer. The likelihood of debt payment for an individual debt is dependent on the issuer's discretion, and/ or its rank relative to other debts of the same issuer in the order of seniority in principal/ interest payment which is determined by design as financial product or by laws, etc.

4 The Potential Limitations of the Credit Rating as Required by Paragraph (a)(1)(ii)(D) of Rule 17g-7

- The credit rating herewith presented by JCR is its summary opinion with regard to the likelihood of given debt payment and hence not necessarily a perfect representation of such likelihood. The credit rating is not intended to estimate the probability of default or the loss on given default, either.
- The objective of the credit rating herewith presented does not include any concerns other than the likelihood of debt payment, such as risks of price changes, market liquidity, etc.
- The credit rating herewith presented is necessary to be reviewed along with possible changes of the issuer of rated objects in its business performance and/ or circumstances which include regulatory environment, and hence subject to possible alteration.

11 Explanation or Measure of the Potential Volatility of the Credit Rating as Required by Paragraph (a)(1)(ii)(K) of Rule 17g-7

A) Portfolios

The credit rating is subject to alteration if there is improvement or deterioration of quality, competitive strength and diversification in the issuer's portfolios, since its revenue, etc. may improve or deteriorate by the change in its investment strategies, tenants' preferences, competitive situation, or a technological innovation. The resultant alteration of the credit rating is usually by a notch, with possibility of a few notches if and when the change in the portfolios is large.

B) Financial Grounds and Asset Quality

The credit rating is subject to alteration if the issuer increases/ decreases its debt/ capital or vice versa and thereby makes its individual debt payment liability less or more bearable and its loss absorption capacity into the future decreased or increased. Also, the changes in the quality of asset under the issuer's holding may affect the credit rating, since such changes could raise or lower the likelihood of future loss of the issuer's financial grounds. The resultant alteration of the credit rating is usually by a notch, with possibility of a few notches if and when the change in the financial grounds and/ or asset quality is large.

C) Liquidity Positions

The credit rating is subject to alteration if there is a change in the issuer's financial management policy or in the relations with fund procurement sources and the change thereby makes its liquidity positions improve or deteriorate. The resultant alteration of the credit rating is usually by a notch, with possibility of a few notches if and when the change is large.

D) Related Parties' Status and Stance of Support/ Assistance for the Issuer

The credit rating is subject to alteration if there is a change in the issuer's sponsor or asset manager, guarantor or other provider of credit enhancement, or the government of the issuer's business domicile, or other related parties' own conditions and/ or position of support/ assistance for the issuer, and the change thereby makes its portfolios, financial grounds and/ or liquidity positions improve or deteriorate, and/ or making the effectiveness of guarantee and other credit enhancement improve or deteriorate. The resultant alteration of the credit rating is usually a notch, with possibility of a few notches if and when the change is large.

E) Order of Seniority in Debt Payment and Non-Payment Forgiven by Contract

The credit rating is subject to alteration if there is a change in the rated debt's status in the order of seniority relative to other debts caused by the improvement/ deterioration of the issuer's financial condition. The resultant alteration of the credit rating is usually a notch, with possibility of a few notches if and when the change is large. Also, in case of the financial products for which non-payment of interest/ principal is contractually permissible, the credit rating is subject to alteration if and when the likelihood of such non-payment is projected to increase or decrease. The resultant alteration of the credit rating could be by a notch but often as much as a few notches.

F) Rise and Fall in General Economy and Markets

The credit rating is subject to alteration if there is a rise/ fall in the general economy and/ or the markets, of e.g. real estate or interest rates, inducing the issuer's revenues/ expenses to increase/ decrease and vice versa, etc. The resultant alteration of the credit rating is usually by a notch, with possibility of a few notches if and when the change is exceptionally large.

G) Various Events

The credit rating is subject to alteration on occurrence of various events, such as change in the issuer's sponsor or asset manager, M&A and other organizational change, accident, violation of the law, litigation, legal/ regulatory change, natural disaster, etc., which are unforeseeable at the time when the credit rating is determined, causing a significant change on the issuer's business bases, financial grounds, etc. The resultant alteration of the credit rating could be by a notch but more often than not as much as a few notches.
