

Japan Credit Rating Agency, Ltd. (JCR) announces the following credit rating.

Astellas Pharma Inc. (security code: 4503)

<Outlook Change>

Long-term Issuer Rating: AA+p

Outlook: from Stable to Negative

Rationale

- (1) Astellas Pharma Inc. (the "Company") is a major Japanese ethical pharmaceutical company. In addition to having its own sales network in approximately 70 countries around the world, the Company has built a global simultaneous development system at its R&D bases in Japan, the U.S., Europe, and Asia to maximize the product value. The ratio of overseas sales is approximately 80%. In R&D, the Company is promoting the creation of products that meet unmet healthcare needs based on a "Focus Area approach" that incorporates multiple perspectives, such as biology, new technologies and treatment methods, other than perspectives by therapeutic area. In July 2023, the Company acquired IVERIC bio, Inc. ("Iveric Bio"), a U.S biopharmaceutical company.
- (2) The Company's financial structure has deteriorated in relation to the acquisition of Inveric Bio. Furthermore the Company's operating profit level has declined due to amortization of intangible assets related to IZERVAY, which the Company obtained through the acquisition of the Inveric Bio and recording of impairment loss for developed products. Operating profit may continue to be sluggish until full swing sales expansion of recently launched new products including IZERVAY. JCR views that the Company's earning power is being maintained as indicated that the core operating profit (operating profit excluding non-recurring items such as amortization of intangible assets, etc. defined by the Company) is at a certain level, but a burden on the financial perspective for profit/loss has become stronger than that in the past, resulting downward pressure on the rating, in JCR's view. Based on the above, JCR has affirmed the rating on the Company while changing the rating outlook from Stable to Negative. JCR will closely monitor the progress toward operating profit recovery going forward.
- (3) JCR views that revenue will remain steady through sales expansion of core products until the loss of exclusivity for XTANDI, in the latter half of 2020s. Although core operating profit (a new definition implemented in FY2024) is projected to continue to decrease as shown by 276.9 billion yen, down 14.5% over the year, for FY2023, 250 billion yen, down 9.7% over the year, for FY2024, the Company still maintains the earning capacity to generate the middle of the 200 billion yen range. On the other hand, operating profit remains low due to the burdens of amortization of intangible assets and impairment loss as shown by 25.5 billion yen, down 80.8% over the year, for FY2023, and a projection of 48 billion yen for FY2024. In order to improve profitability, expanding sales of new products with good profitability, is important.
- (4) Interest-bearing debt increased due to the fund requirement for acquisition of Iveric Bio and the ratio of equity attributable to owners of the parent deteriorated to 44.7% at the end of FY2023 from 61.4% at the end of FY2022. The Company indicates that the funds procured can be repaid in the period between 5 years and 7 years. Therefore, it is difficult to recover the ratio within a short period of time. In case where IZERVAY cannot achieve the revenue target as expected, impairment risk may arise because a large amount of intangible assets have also been recorded. JCR will pay attention to the pace of financial improvement going forward.

The Main Assumptions and Principles used in Constructing the Procedures and Methodologies used to Determine the Credit Rating as Required by Paragraph (a)(1)(ii)(C) of Rule 17g-7

- The credit rating methodology assumes, in principle, to be applied to assess the likelihood of a given debt payment in light of its issuer's condition and business environment, etc. in the relevant future. There is certain limitation, however, in the time horizon that the rating foresees.
- The credit rating methodology assumes, in principle, that the factors posted in the below are particularly important for such likelihood to be determined, and that the rating determination is made by evaluating each of them not only quantitatively but also employing qualitative analyses.

A) Business Bases

The likelihood of a given debt payment is highly conditional to its issuer's business bases - how they can be maintained/ expanded into the future and thereby secure earnings and cash flows in adequacy and in a sustainable way.

B) Financial Grounds and Asset Quality

The likelihood of debt payment is highly dependent on the degree of the issuer's indebtedness and loss absorption capacity in terms of equity capital. Also notable is that a financial institution might see a significant loss of financial grounds as a result of changes in value of the assets under its possession.

C) Liquidity Positions

The likelihood of debt payment is highly dependent on the adequacy of the issuer's cash and other sources of repayment (liquidity positions).

D) Related Parties' Status and Stance of Support/ Assistance for the Issuer

The likelihood of debt payment is affected one way or the other by the issuer's related parties such as parent company, subsidiary, guarantor, and the government of the issuer's business domicile, etc. - by their own conditions and/ or position of support/ assistance for the issuer.

E) Order of Seniority in Debt Payment

The likelihood of debt payment can be different between given debts of the same issuer. The likelihood of debt payment for an individual debt is dependent on the issuer's discretion, and/ or its rank relative to other debts of the same issuer in the order of seniority in principal/ interest payment which is determined by design as financial product or by laws, etc.

4 The Potential Limitations of the Credit Rating as Required by Paragraph (a)(1)(ii)(D) of Rule 17g-7

- The credit rating herewith presented by JCR is its summary opinion with regard to the likelihood of given debt payment and hence not necessarily a perfect representation of such likelihood. The credit rating is not intended to estimate the probability of default or the loss on given default, either.
- The objective of the credit rating herewith presented does not include any concerns other than the likelihood of debt payment, such as risks of price changes, market liquidity, etc.
- The credit rating herewith presented is necessary to be reviewed along with possible changes of the issuer of rated objects in its business performance and/ or circumstances which include regulatory environment, and hence subject to possible alteration.

5 Information on the Uncertainty of the Credit Rating as Required by Paragraph (a)(1)(ii)(E) of Rule 17g-7

Consequently, the credit rating determined on the grounds of such information does not constitute, explicitly or implicitly, any representation or warrant of JCR on the information itself or any consequences of its use in terms of accuracy, relevance, timeliness, wholeness, market value, or usefulness for any specific purposes.

11 Explanation or Measure of the Potential Volatility of the Credit Rating as Required by Paragraph (a)(1)(ii)(K) of Rule 17g-7

A) Business Bases

The credit rating is subject to alteration if there is improvement or deterioration of the issuer's business bases, since its revenue, etc. may improve or deteriorate by the change in its business management policies, clients' preferences, competitive situation, or a technological innovation. The resultant alteration of the credit rating is usually by a notch, with possibility of a few notches if and when the change in the business bases is large.

B) Financial Grounds and Asset Quality

The credit rating is subject to alteration if the issuer increases/ decreases its debt/ capital or vice versa and thereby makes its individual debt payment liability less or more bearable and its loss absorption capacity into the future decreased or increased. Also, the changes in the quality of asset under the issuer's holding may affect the credit rating, since such changes could raise or lower the likelihood of future loss of the issuer's financial grounds. The resultant alteration of the credit rating is usually by a notch, with possibility of a few notches if and when the change in the financial grounds and/ or asset quality is large.

C) Liquidity Positions

The credit rating is subject to alteration if there is a change in the issuer's financial management policy or in the relations with fund procurement sources and the change thereby makes its liquidity positions improve or deteriorate. The resultant alteration of the credit rating is usually by a notch, with possibility of a few notches if and when the change is large.

D) Related Parties' Status and Stance of Support/ Assistance for the Issuer

The credit rating is subject to alteration if there is a change in the issuer's parent company or subsidiary, guarantor or other provider of credit enhancement, or the government of the issuer's business domicile, or other related parties' own conditions and/ or position of support/ assistance for the issuer, and the change thereby makes its business bases, financial grounds and/ or liquidity positions improve or deteriorate, and/ or making the effectiveness of guarantee and other credit enhancement improve or deteriorate. The resultant alteration of the credit rating is usually a notch, with possibility of a few notches if and when the change is large.

E) Order of Seniority in Debt Payment and Non-Payment Forgiven by Contract

The credit rating is subject to alteration if there is a change in the rated debt's status in the order of seniority relative to other debts caused by the improvement/ deterioration of the issuer's financial condition. The resultant alteration of the credit rating is usually a notch, with possibility of a few notches if and when the change is large. Also, in case of the financial products for which non-payment of interest/ principal is contractually permissible, the credit rating is subject to alteration if and when the likelihood of such non-payment is projected to increase or decrease. The resultant alteration of the credit rating could be by a notch but often as much as a few notches.

F) Rise and Fall in General Economy and Markets

The credit rating is subject to alteration if there is a rise/ fall in the general economy and/ or the markets inducing the issuer's revenues/ expenses to increase/ decrease and vice versa, etc. The resultant alteration of the credit rating is usually by a notch, with possibility of a few notches if and when the change is exceptionally large.

G) Various Events

The credit rating is subject to alteration on occurrence of various events, such as change in the issuer's major shareholders, M&A and other organizational change, accident, violation of the law, litigation, legal/ regulatory change, natural disaster, etc., which are unforeseeable at the time when the credit rating is determined, causing a significant change on the issuer's business bases, financial grounds, etc. The resultant alteration of the credit rating could be by a notch but more often than not as much as a few notches.

Information on the Sensitivity of the Credit Rating to Assumptions Made as Required by Paragraph (a)(1)(ii)(M) of Rule 17g-7

B) Financial Grounds and Asset Quality

The credit rating herewith presented could be changed if and when the assumptions made at the time of its determination turn out to be inaccurate with regard to the issuer's financial grounds and asset quality. The change could be as much as a few notches if the issuer's financial structure differs so much and thereby the balance between debts shifted so greatly. Rating change is also possible in case of the financial products for which non-payment of interest/ principal is contractually permissible, if and when the assumptions made at the time of its determination turns out to be inaccurate. The change of the credit rating is assumed to be by a notch but often as much as a few notches.
