

Japan Credit Rating Agency, Ltd. (JCR) announces the following credit rating.

YAMAZEN CORPORATION (security code: 8051)

<Affirmation>

Long-term Issuer Rating: A
Outlook: Stable

Rationale

- (1) YAMAZEN CORPORATION (the “Company”) is a major specialized trading company dealing in production equipment such as machine tools and cutting tools, as well as consumer goods including housing equipment and home products. It ranks among the top in Japan in terms of the volume of machine tools, cutting tools and other products handled in the production equipment field and has strong relationships with its suppliers, underpinned by many years of business experience. In the consumer goods field, it also operates as a fables company that manufactures private-brand (“PB”) products such as electric fans and heating equipment on consignment, in addition to national brand products. Net sales for the fiscal year ended March 2024 (FY2023) were accounted for 65% by the production equipment-related business (49% for domestic and 16% for overseas) and 35% by the consumer goods-related business and others. In January 2025, the Company automated its warehouse logistics operations and fully launched Logis Osaka, a logistics hub that handles joint transportation and delivery with other companies.
- (2) Earnings base is stable. As regards current performance, while the production equipment-related business has been somewhat sluggish due to a slow economic recovery in China, the consumer goods-related business is helping ensure a certain level of profits. In the consumer goods-related business, the Company maintains solid earnings capacity thanks to successful sales expansion in the existing non-housing construction field and development of PB products. In the production equipment-related business on the other hand, it is working to strengthen the earnings structure by, for instance, providing customers with business improvement services via its own website and supporting companies’ overseas expansion. It is also focusing on improving logistics efficiency, thereby steadily enhancing trading company functions. Financial position is good, as indicated by the Company remaining in the net cash position, and JCR finds no particular changes in the medium-term policy, either. Based on the above, JCR affirmed the rating on the Company with Stable outlook.
- (3) The Company forecasts 510 billion yen in net sales and 10 billion yen in operating income for FY2024. Operating income showed a year-on-year decline in the first half of the year but is expected to start picking up in the second half. Attention for the time being will be paid to trends in orders for machine tools and automobile production. JCR assumes that the income for FY2025 and beyond will improve with recovery in demand in the production equipment-related business. Looking ahead, the Company faces the challenge of realizing the results of its initiatives undertaken over the past few years to boost earnings by expanding its functions.
- (4) Equity ratio has been staying at around 40% since FY2019, coming to 44% as of the end of the second quarter of FY2024. Under the current medium-term management plan for FY2022 through FY2024, the Company is investing in operational systems, logistics facilities, etc. to strengthen the business base, and the amount of such spending is expected to be within the scope of operating cash flow and cash on hand. The Company intends to strictly keep financial soundness indicators at certain levels into the future, which suggests that the good financial structure will be maintained.

3

The Main Assumptions and Principles used in Constructing the Procedures and Methodologies used to Determine the Credit Rating as Required by Paragraph (a)(1)(ii)(C) of Rule 17g-7

- The credit rating methodology assumes, in principle, to be applied to assess the likelihood of a given debt payment in light of its issuer's condition and business environment, etc. in the relevant future. There is certain limitation, however, in the time horizon that the rating foresees.
- The credit rating methodology assumes, in principle, that the factors posted in the below are particularly important for such likelihood to be determined, and that the rating determination is made by evaluating each of them not only quantitatively but also employing qualitative analyses.

A) Business Bases

The likelihood of a given debt payment is highly conditional to its issuer's business bases - how they can be maintained/ expanded into the future and thereby secure earnings and cash flows in adequacy and in a sustainable way.

B) Financial Grounds and Asset Quality

The likelihood of debt payment is highly dependent on the degree of the issuer's indebtedness and loss absorption capacity in terms of equity capital. Also notable is that a financial institution might see a significant loss of financial grounds as a result of changes in value of the assets under its possession.

C) Liquidity Positions

The likelihood of debt payment is highly dependent on the adequacy of the issuer's cash and other sources of repayment (liquidity positions).

D) Related Parties' Status and Stance of Support/ Assistance for the Issuer

The likelihood of debt payment is affected one way or the other by the issuer's related parties such as parent company, subsidiary, guarantor, and the government of the issuer's business domicile, etc. - by their own conditions and/ or position of support/ assistance for the issuer.

E) Order of Seniority in Debt Payment

The likelihood of debt payment can be different between given debts of the same issuer. The likelihood of debt payment for an individual debt is dependent on the issuer's discretion, and/ or its rank relative to other debts of the same issuer in the order of seniority in principal/ interest payment which is determined by design as financial product or by laws, etc.

4 The Potential Limitations of the Credit Rating as Required by Paragraph (a)(1)(ii)(D) of Rule 17g-7

- The credit rating herewith presented by JCR is its summary opinion with regard to the likelihood of given debt payment and hence not necessarily a perfect representation of such likelihood. - The objective of the credit rating herewith presented does not include any concerns other than the likelihood of debt payment, such as risks of price changes, market liquidity, etc.
- The credit rating herewith presented is necessary to be reviewed along with possible changes of the issuer of rated objects in its business performance and/ or circumstances which include regulatory environment, and hence subject to possible alteration.
