

Japan Credit Rating Agency, Ltd. (JCR) announces the following credit rating.

Tokyo Tatemono Private REIT, Inc. (security code: -)

<Affirmation>

Long-term Issuer Rating: A+
Outlook: Stable

Rationale

- (1) Tokyo Tatemono Private REIT, Inc. ("TPR") is an unlisted open-ended investment corporation established in March 2015. It aims at building a comprehensive portfolio by investing in real estate for office, residential and other uses, mainly in the Greater Tokyo area. Its assets are managed by Tokyo Tatemono Investment Advisors Co., Ltd. wholly owned by general real estate company Tokyo Tatemono Co., Ltd. Tokyo Tatemono defines strengthening the fund business, including REITs, as a key management target, and the Tokyo Tatemono Group's assets under management has expanded to as much as around 1.5 trillion yen.
- (2) The current portfolio consists of 45 properties with a total acquisition price of 102 billion yen and is moderately diversified in terms of applications and geographical locations. For external growth, TPR has set the target asset size of 200 billion yen and is pressing ahead with property acquisition, partly through capital increases. It appears to continue steadily building up the pipeline, including the sponsor-developed properties and those acquired through the asset manager's own channel, and progress in portfolio diversification through additional acquisitions is anticipated. Properties owned by TPR are relatively highly competitive in the respective areas and maintain high occupancy rates on the whole, and the track record of rent increases can also be observed. Moreover, TPR conducts stable financial management, as indicated by its relations with lenders centering on Mizuho Bank, Ltd. Based on the above, JCR affirmed the rating on TPR with Stable outlook.
- (3) JCR assumes that TPR has an advantage of being able to stably acquire sponsor-developed high-quality properties, including the Brilia 1st series of upscale rental condominiums. As the property acquisition environment continues to be challenging, including soaring transaction prices in the real estate sales market, JCR is keeping an eye on progress in external growth leveraging sponsor support. Leasing operations have been strong, backed by brisk leasing demand, especially for offices and residences. Continued attention will be paid to the initiatives aimed at sustainable internal growth, which address changes in market conditions, such as inflation and interest rate hikes.
- (4) Market value-based LTV (interest-bearing debt / (total assets + unrealized gains/losses)) gradually declined after rising temporarily in the fiscal period ended November 2021 because the property acquisition preceded the capital increase and now stays at the level close to 40%. Meanwhile, TPR is striving for stable financing by staggering repayment dates while ensuring tolerance to the risk of interest rate hikes by controlling fixed interest rate ratio and debt maturities. As regards the request for the refund of investment units, JCR assumes that TPR can flexibly respond to such request with relatively highly liquid assets while also containing the risk of a sharp rise in LTV by limiting the number of investment units to be refunded in one fiscal period, in principle, to a certain percentage of investment units issued and outstanding.

The Main Assumptions and Principles used in Constructing the Procedures and Methodologies used to Determine the Credit Rating as Required by Paragraph (a)(1)(ii)(C) of Rule 17g-7

- The credit rating methodology assumes, in principle, to be applied to assess the likelihood of a given debt payment in light of its issuer's condition and market environment, etc. in the relevant future. There is certain limitation, however, in the time horizon that the rating foresees
- The credit rating methodology assumes, in principle, that the factors posted in the below are particularly important for such likelihood to be determined, and that the rating determination is made by evaluating each of them not only quantitatively but also employing qualitative analyses.

A) Portfolios

The likelihood of a given debt payment is highly conditional to its issuer's portfolios - how they can be maintained/ enhanced into the future and thereby secure earnings and cash flows in adequacy and in a sustainable way.

B) Financial Grounds and Asset Quality

The likelihood of debt payment is highly dependent on the degree of the issuer's indebtedness and loss absorption capacity in terms of equity capital. Also notable is that a J-REIT might see a significant loss of financial grounds as a result of changes in value of the assets under its possession.

C) Liquidity Positions

The likelihood of debt payment is highly dependent on the adequacy of the issuer's cash and other sources of repayment (liquidity positions) including certainty of refinancing.

D) Related Parties' Status and Stance of Support/ Assistance for the Issuer

The likelihood of debt payment is affected one way or the other by the issuer's related parties such as sponsor, asset manager, guarantor, and the government of the issuer's business domicile, etc. - by their own conditions and/ or position of support/ assistance for the issuer.

E) Order of Seniority in Debt Payment

The likelihood of debt payment can be different between given debts of the same issuer. The likelihood of debt payment for an individual debt is dependent on the issuer's discretion, and/ or its rank relative to other debts of the same issuer in the order of seniority in principal/ interest payment which is determined by design as financial product or by laws, etc.

4 The Potential Limitations of the Credit Rating as Required by Paragraph (a)(1)(ii)(D) of Rule 17g-7

- The credit rating herewith presented by JCR is its summary opinion with regard to the likelihood of given debt payment and hence not necessarily a perfect representation of such likelihood. The credit rating is not intended to estimate the probability of default or the loss on given default, either.
- The objective of the credit rating herewith presented does not include any concerns other than the likelihood of debt payment, such as risks of price changes, market liquidity, etc.
- The credit rating herewith presented is necessary to be reviewed along with possible changes of the issuer of rated objects in its business performance and/ or circumstances which include regulatory environment, and hence subject to possible alteration.

11 Explanation or Measure of the Potential Volatility of the Credit Rating as Required by Paragraph (a)(1)(ii)(K) of Rule 17g-7

A) Portfolios

The credit rating is subject to alteration if there is improvement or deterioration of quality, competitive strength and diversification in the issuer's portfolios, since its revenue, etc. may improve or deteriorate by the change in its investment strategies, tenants' preferences, competitive situation, or a technological innovation. The resultant alteration of the credit rating is usually by a notch, with possibility of a few notches if and when the change in the portfolios is large.

B) Financial Grounds and Asset Quality

The credit rating is subject to alteration if the issuer increases/ decreases its debt/ capital or vice versa and thereby makes its individual debt payment liability less or more bearable and its loss absorption capacity into the future decreased or increased. Also, the changes in the quality of asset under the issuer's holding may affect the credit rating, since such changes could raise or lower the likelihood of future loss of the issuer's financial grounds. The resultant alteration of the credit rating is usually by a notch, with possibility of a few notches if and when the change in the financial grounds and/ or asset quality is large.

C) Liquidity Positions

The credit rating is subject to alteration if there is a change in the issuer's financial management policy or in the relations with fund procurement sources and the change thereby makes its liquidity positions improve or deteriorate. The resultant alteration of the credit rating is usually by a notch, with possibility of a few notches if and when the change is large.

D) Related Parties' Status and Stance of Support/ Assistance for the Issuer

The credit rating is subject to alteration if there is a change in the issuer's sponsor or asset manager, guarantor or other provider of credit enhancement, or the government of the issuer's business domicile, or other related parties' own conditions and/ or position of support/ assistance for the issuer, and the change thereby makes its portfolios, financial grounds and/ or liquidity positions improve or deteriorate, and/ or making the effectiveness of guarantee and other credit enhancement improve or deteriorate. The resultant alteration of the credit rating is usually a notch, with possibility of a few notches if and when the change is large.

E) Order of Seniority in Debt Payment and Non-Payment Forgiven by Contract

The credit rating is subject to alteration if there is a change in the rated debt's status in the order of seniority relative to other debts caused by the improvement/ deterioration of the issuer's financial condition. The resultant alteration of the credit rating is usually a notch, with possibility of a few notches if and when the change is large. Also, in case of the financial products for which non-payment of interest/ principal is contractually permissible, the credit rating is subject to alteration if and when the likelihood of such non-payment is projected to increase or decrease. The resultant alteration of the credit rating could be by a notch but often as much as a few notches.

F) Rise and Fall in General Economy and Markets

The credit rating is subject to alteration if there is a rise/ fall in the general economy and/ or the markets, of e.g. real estate or interest rates, inducing the issuer's revenues/ expenses to increase/ decrease and vice versa, etc. The resultant alteration of the credit rating is usually by a notch, with possibility of a few notches if and when the change is exceptionally large.

G) Various Events

The credit rating is subject to alteration on occurrence of various events, such as change in the issuer's sponsor or asset manager, M&A and other organizational change, accident, violation of the law, litigation, legal/ regulatory change, natural disaster, etc., which are unforeseeable at the time when the credit rating is determined, causing a significant change on the issuer's business bases, financial grounds, etc. The resultant alteration of the credit rating could be by a notch but more often than not as much as a few notches.
