

Japan Credit Rating Agency, Ltd. (JCR) announces the following credit rating.

Asahi Group Holdings, Ltd. (security code: 2502)

<Affirmation>

Rationale

- (1) Asahi Group Holdings, Ltd. (the “Company”) is the holding company of the Asahi Group (the “Group”) that operates the alcohol and non-alcohol beverages businesses at home and abroad. For mainstay beers, it has prominent brands like Super Dry, Peroni Nastro Azzurro and Great Northern in the three core regions of operation, i.e. Japan, Europe and Oceania, thus enjoying strong presence in the respective markets. It also has highly recognized brands by consumers in the domestic non-alcohol beverages business. Along with the food business, it has established a good portfolio for the Group as a whole. JCR reflects the Group’s entire creditworthiness in the ratings given the strong unity between the holding company and companies operating businesses in each region as regional headquarters.
- (2) The performance is on the growth path and is still expected to be steady. The business environment is severe due in part to shrinkage of the domestic alcohol beverages market and also competitions and impact of higher prices. That said, making progress in the integration process of the business acquired through a recent large scale acquisition into the Group, the regional portfolio has been strengthened and competitive advantages in the major markets have also risen because of ongoing brand investment. Furthermore, earnings capacity of the domestic alcohol beverages business, which was on the trend toward decline, made turnaround through implementing appropriate price strategies, improving cost efficiency and others and is now being strengthened again. Although the level of interest-bearing debt is still high, it is consistently decreasing on the back of stable cash flow. Due to steady profit accumulation, financial foundation is being strengthened and JCR believes that the Company will be able to maintain this trend for the foreseeable future. Based on the above, JCR has affirmed the ratings on the Company with Stable outlook.
- (3) For the fiscal year ending December 2024 (FY2024), the Company expects revenue and profit growth for four consecutive fiscal years as indicated by the projection of revenue of 2,840 billion yen, up 2.6% from the previous fiscal year, and a core operating profit of 271 billion yen, up 2.8% from the previous fiscal year. Premised on a certain amount of cost increase centering on Japan and Oceania, the Company intends to secure a profit growth for this fiscal year through sales expansion of products under core brands and strict cost control, among others. As for the cost perspective, the Company established a new organization in Singapore (the “Organization”) for the purpose of upgrading the procurement function for the entire Group and it has started operation since January 2024. The Organization is aiming to generate a financial impact of more than 100 million dollars on average per year to accumulate for a period of half a decade or so from 2024. Together with strengthening the global brands, this will be the factor supporting the future profit growth, in JCR’s view.
- (4) Net D/E ratio as at the end of FY2023 was 0.46x (considering the equity content of subordinated bonds), and net interest-bearing debt/EBITDA declined as low as around 3x in the same fiscal year. This indicates that financial standing is improving in line with the financial policy guideline (from 2022 through 2024). On the other hand, equity attributable to owners of parent has expanded to the middle of 2 trillion yen range (the level without considering the equity content of the subordinated bonds). It almost doubled in four fiscal years from the end of FY2019. From a medium- to long-term perspective, order of priority for growth investments may be raised; however, along with an increase in risk resilience, the margin is also rising.

3

The Main Assumptions and Principles used in Constructing the Procedures and Methodologies used to Determine the Credit Rating as Required by Paragraph (a)(1)(ii)(C) of Rule 17g-7

- The credit rating methodology assumes, in principle, to be applied to assess the likelihood of a given debt payment in light of its issuer's condition and business environment, etc. in the relevant future. There is certain limitation, however, in the time horizon that the rating foresees.
- The credit rating methodology assumes, in principle, that the factors posted in the below are particularly important for such likelihood to be determined, and that the rating determination is made by evaluating each of them not only quantitatively but also employing qualitative analyses.

A) Business Bases

The likelihood of a given debt payment is highly conditional to its issuer's business bases - how they can be maintained/ expanded into the future and thereby secure earnings and cash flows in adequacy and in a sustainable way.

B) Financial Grounds and Asset Quality

The likelihood of debt payment is highly dependent on the degree of the issuer's indebtedness and loss absorption capacity in terms of equity capital. Also notable is that a financial institution might see a significant loss of financial grounds as a result of changes in value of the assets under its possession.

C) Liquidity Positions

The likelihood of debt payment is highly dependent on the adequacy of the issuer's cash and other sources of repayment (liquidity positions).

D) Related Parties' Status and Stance of Support/ Assistance for the Issuer

The likelihood of debt payment is affected one way or the other by the issuer's related parties such as parent company, subsidiary, guarantor, and the government of the issuer's business domicile, etc. - by their own conditions and/ or position of support/ assistance for the issuer.

E) Order of Seniority in Debt Payment

The likelihood of debt payment can be different between given debts of the same issuer. The likelihood of debt payment for an individual debt is dependent on the issuer's discretion, and/ or its rank relative to other debts of the same issuer in the order of seniority in principal/ interest payment which is determined by design as financial product or by laws, etc.

4 The Potential Limitations of the Credit Rating as Required by Paragraph (a)(1)(ii)(D) of Rule 17g-7

- The credit rating herewith presented by JCR is its summary opinion with regard to the likelihood of given debt payment and hence not necessarily a perfect representation of such likelihood. The credit rating is not intended to estimate the probability of default or the loss on given default, either.
- The objective of the credit rating herewith presented does not include any concerns other than the likelihood of debt payment, such as risks of price changes, market liquidity, etc.
- The credit rating herewith presented is necessary to be reviewed along with possible changes of the issuer of rated objects in its business performance and/ or circumstances which include regulatory environment, and hence subject to possible alteration.

11 Explanation or Measure of the Potential Volatility of the Credit Rating as Required by Paragraph (a)(1)(ii)(K) of Rule 17g-7

A) Business Bases

The credit rating is subject to alteration if there is improvement or deterioration of the issuer's business bases, since its revenue, etc. may improve or deteriorate by the change in its business management policies, clients' preferences, competitive situation, or a technological innovation. The resultant alteration of the credit rating is usually by a notch, with possibility of a few notches if and when the change in the business bases is large.

B) Financial Grounds and Asset Quality

The credit rating is subject to alteration if the issuer increases/ decreases its debt/ capital or vice versa and thereby makes its individual debt payment liability less or more bearable and its loss absorption capacity into the future decreased or increased. Also, the changes in the quality of asset under the issuer's holding may affect the credit rating, since such changes could raise or lower the likelihood of future loss of the issuer's financial grounds. The resultant alteration of the credit rating is usually by a notch, with possibility of a few notches if and when the change in the financial grounds and/ or asset quality is large.

C) Liquidity Positions

The credit rating is subject to alteration if there is a change in the issuer's financial management policy or in the relations with fund procurement sources and the change thereby makes its liquidity positions improve or deteriorate. The resultant alteration of the credit rating is usually by a notch, with possibility of a few notches if and when the change is large.

D) Related Parties' Status and Stance of Support/ Assistance for the Issuer

The credit rating is subject to alteration if there is a change in the issuer's parent company or subsidiary, guarantor or other provider of credit enhancement, or the government of the issuer's business domicile, or other related parties' own conditions and/ or position of support/ assistance for the issuer, and the change thereby makes its business bases, financial grounds and/ or liquidity positions improve or deteriorate, and/ or making the effectiveness of guarantee and other credit enhancement improve or deteriorate. The resultant alteration of the credit rating is usually a notch, with possibility of a few notches if and when the change is large.

E) Order of Seniority in Debt Payment and Non-Payment Forgiven by Contract

The credit rating is subject to alteration if there is a change in the rated debt's status in the order of seniority relative to other debts caused by the improvement/ deterioration of the issuer's financial condition. The resultant alteration of the credit rating is usually a notch, with possibility of a few notches if and when the change is large. Also, in case of the financial products for which non-payment of interest/ principal is contractually permissible, the credit rating is subject to alteration if and when the likelihood of such non-payment is projected to increase or decrease. The resultant alteration of the credit rating could be by a notch but often as much as a few notches.

F) Rise and Fall in General Economy and Markets

The credit rating is subject to alteration if there is a rise/ fall in the general economy and/ or the markets inducing the issuer's revenues/ expenses to increase/ decrease and vice versa, etc. The resultant alteration of the credit rating is usually by a notch, with possibility of a few notches if and when the change is exceptionally large.

G) Various Events

The credit rating is subject to alteration on occurrence of various events, such as change in the issuer's major shareholders, M&A and other organizational change, accident, violation of the law, litigation, legal/ regulatory change, natural disaster, etc., which are unforeseeable at the time when the credit rating is determined, causing a significant change on the issuer's business bases, financial grounds, etc. The resultant alteration of the credit rating could be by a notch but more often than not as much as a few notches.
