

Japan Credit Rating Agency, Ltd. (JCR) announces the following credit rating.

Bharat Oman Refineries Limited (security code: -)

<Affirmation>

Foreign Currency Long-term Issuer Rating: BBB
Outlook: Stable

Rationale

- (1) Bharat Oman Refineries Limited (BORL) is an oil refinery company based in central India. The company used to be an equity-method affiliate 50.0% owned by Bharat Petroleum Corporation Limited (BPCL), a major national oil company 54.3% owned by the Government of India (GOI, foreign currency long-term Issuer ratings: BBB+/Stable). However, in March 2020, BPCL raised its equity holding ratio to 63.4% by conversion of already subscribed warrants into equity shares and converted BORL to its consolidated subsidiary. BORL's refinery at Bina is the sole refinery in central India, and it is positioned as a vital supply base in the northern central part of India in BPCL's supply chain. The rating on BORL reflects the creditworthiness of BPCL to a certain extent because it has strong business and financial ties with BPCL and because it can expect to receive support from the parent company in both tangible and intangible forms.
- (2) In March 2020, GOI officially announced its plan to divest all its equity shares in BPCL. It set forth financial criteria for qualified bidders, requiring any single bidder to have a minimum net worth of USD 10 billion and a consortium, to be made up of no more than four companies, to have a minimum net worth of USD 1 billion per company. Due to the stagnation of the Indian economy caused by the novel coronavirus (COVID-19) pandemic and the plunge of oil prices, there is a growing possibility that the plan will be delayed from the initial schedule. JCR believes that GOI's support for BPCL will continue at least until the sale is completed. After a company that acquires GOI's stake is determined, JCR will consider the impact of its creditworthiness on that of BPCL and BORL, and will reflect it on BORL's rating as appropriate.
- (3) In FY2019/20, BORL's earnings are seen to have declined from the previous year due mainly to sluggish demand caused by the stagnant domestic economy and increased costs. In the current fiscal year, there is a strong possibility that BORL's refining margin will be temporarily squeezed due to the declining product demand resulting from the COVID-19 pandemic. Inventory valuation losses stemming from the plunge of crude oil prices may also bring downward pressure on BORL's earnings. Possible impacts of these factors on its overall financial performance need to be watched. However, when the COVID-19 problem comes to an end, its earnings may pick up as demand recovers. With domestic demand for petroleum products expected to grow in the medium term, JCR holds that BORL's performance will return to a steady expansion in the medium term.
- (4) BORL's financial position is slightly inferior to those of other Indian oil refiners. Its equity-to-asset ratio declined from 23.9% at the end of March 2019 to 23.1% at the end of September 2019 while DER remained little changed from 2.1 to 2.0 times during the same period. Meanwhile, its high value capital expenditure plans for further enhancing the existing capacity are seen to be curbed for a while due to the current downturn of petroleum product demand and ongoing GOI's divestment plan for BPCL. Therefore, JCR holds that any deterioration of BORL's financial position will be contained to a reasonable extent.

The Main Assumptions and Principles used in Constructing the Procedures and Methodologies used to Determine the Credit Rating as Required by Paragraph (a)(1)(ii)(C) of Rule 17g-7

- The credit rating methodology assumes, in principle, to be applied to assess the likelihood of a given debt payment in light of its issuer's condition and business environment, etc. in the relevant future. There is certain limitation, however, in the time horizon that the rating foresees.
- The credit rating methodology assumes, in principle, that the factors posted in the below are particularly important for such likelihood to be determined, and that the rating determination is made by evaluating each of them not only quantitatively but also employing qualitative analyses.

A) Business Bases

The likelihood of a given debt payment is highly conditional to its issuer's business bases - how they can be maintained/ expanded into the future and thereby secure earnings and cash flows in adequacy and in a sustainable way.

B) Financial Grounds and Asset Quality

The likelihood of debt payment is highly dependent on the degree of the issuer's indebtedness and loss absorption capacity in terms of equity capital. Also notable is that a financial institution might see a significant loss of financial grounds as a result of changes in value of the assets under its possession.

C) Liquidity Positions

The likelihood of debt payment is highly dependent on the adequacy of the issuer's cash and other sources of repayment (liquidity positions).

D) Related Parties' Status and Stance of Support/ Assistance for the Issuer

The likelihood of debt payment is affected one way or the other by the issuer's related parties such as parent company, subsidiary, guarantor, and the government of the issuer's business domicile, etc. - by their own conditions and/ or position of support/ assistance for the issuer.

E) Order of Seniority in Debt Payment

The likelihood of debt payment can be different between given debts of the same issuer. The likelihood of debt payment for an individual debt is dependent on the issuer's discretion, and/ or its rank relative to other debts of the same issuer in the order of seniority in principal/ interest payment which is determined by design as financial product or by laws, etc.

4 The Potential Limitations of the Credit Rating as Required by Paragraph (a)(1)(ii)(D) of Rule 17g-7

- The credit rating herewith presented by JCR is its summary opinion with regard to the likelihood of given debt payment and hence not necessarily a perfect representation of such likelihood. The credit rating is not intended to estimate the probability of default or the loss on given default, either.
- The objective of the credit rating herewith presented does not include any concerns other than the likelihood of debt payment, such as risks of price changes, market liquidity, etc.
- The credit rating herewith presented is necessary to be reviewed along with possible changes of the issuer of rated objects in its business performance and/ or circumstances which include regulatory environment, and hence subject to possible alteration.

5 Information on the Uncertainty of the Credit Rating as Required by Paragraph (a)(1)(ii)(E) of Rule 17g-7

- The information used for the determination of credit rating as herewith presented is obtained by JCR from the issuer of rated objects and other sources that JCR trusts in terms of accuracy and reliability but possibly contains errors due to human, non-human or other causes. Consequently, the credit rating determined on the grounds of such information does not constitute, explicitly or implicitly, any representation or warrant of JCR on the information itself or any consequences of its use in terms of accuracy, relevance, timeliness, wholeness, market value, or usefulness for any specific purposes.

11 Explanation or Measure of the Potential Volatility of the Credit Rating as Required by Paragraph (a)(1)(ii)(K) of Rule 17g-7

A) Business Bases

The credit rating is subject to alteration if there is improvement or deterioration of the issuer's business bases, since its revenue, etc. may improve or deteriorate by the change in its business management policies, clients' preferences, competitive situation, or a technological innovation. The resultant alteration of the credit rating is usually by a notch, with possibility of a few notches if and when the change in the business bases is large.

B) Financial Grounds and Asset Quality

The credit rating is subject to alteration if the issuer increases/ decreases its debt/ capital or vice versa and thereby makes its individual debt payment liability less or more bearable and its loss absorption capacity into the future decreased or increased. Also, the changes in the quality of asset under the issuer's holding may affect the credit rating, since such changes could raise or lower the likelihood of future loss of the issuer's financial grounds. The resultant alteration of the credit rating is usually by a notch, with possibility of a few notches if and when the change in the financial grounds and/ or asset quality is large.

C) Liquidity Positions

The credit rating is subject to alteration if there is a change in the issuer's financial management policy or in the relations with fund procurement sources and the change thereby makes its liquidity positions improve or deteriorate. The resultant alteration of the credit rating is usually by a notch, with possibility of a few notches if and when the change is large.

D) Related Parties' Status and Stance of Support/ Assistance for the Issuer

The credit rating is subject to alteration if there is a change in the issuer's parent company or subsidiary, guarantor or other provider of credit enhancement, or the government of the issuer's business domicile, or other related parties' own conditions and/ or position of support/ assistance for the issuer, and the change thereby makes its business bases, financial grounds and/ or liquidity positions improve or deteriorate, and/ or making the effectiveness of guarantee and other credit enhancement improve or deteriorate. The resultant alteration of the credit rating is usually a notch, with possibility of a few notches if and when the change is large.

E) Order of Seniority in Debt Payment and Non-Payment Forgiven by Contract

The credit rating is subject to alteration if there is a change in the rated debt's status in the order of seniority relative to other debts caused by the improvement/ deterioration of the issuer's financial condition. The resultant alteration of the credit rating is usually a notch, with possibility of a few notches if and when the change is large. Also, in case of the financial products for which non-payment of interest/ principal is contractually permissible, the credit rating is subject to alteration if and when the likelihood of such non-payment is projected to increase or decrease. The resultant alteration of the credit rating could be by a notch but often as much as a few notches.

F) Rise and Fall in General Economy and Markets

The credit rating is subject to alteration if there is a rise/ fall in the general economy and/ or the markets inducing the issuer's revenues/ expenses to increase/ decrease and vice versa, etc. The resultant alteration of the credit rating is usually by a notch, with possibility of a few notches if and when the change is exceptionally large.

G) Various Events
