

Japan Credit Rating Agency, Ltd. (JCR) announces the following credit rating.

Sony Bank Incorporated (security code: -)

<Affirmation>

Long-term Issuer Rating: AA-
Outlook: Stable

Rationale

- (1) Sony Bank Incorporated (the "Bank") is an Internet-only bank under Sony Financial Holdings Inc. ("SFH"), which owns 100% voting rights. The Bank has expanded its business scale by offering unique products and services together with its strong brand image. It particularly has strengths in foreign-currency deposits and housing loans. In addition to the Bank's stand-alone factors including the appropriate business bases as an Internet bank, favorable asset quality, a certain capital adequacy level and the cautious stance on its financial management that considers the soundness, the rating strongly reflects possible support that may be extended by Sony Financial Group (the "Group"), in which Sony Life Insurance Co., Ltd. is the core company. In determining the rating, the Bank's position in the Group, degree of profit contribution and the Group's involvement in the Bank's management are the key factors.
- (2) The Bank's business performance has been steady. Housing loans, the mainstay of the Bank's revenues, have been favorable, and related fee income and interest income on loans have been on an upward trend. Diversification of securities investments is also supporting the earnings. However, there is a possibility that the growth in the balance of housing loans will slow down due to the severe competitive environment, and expenses are also on an upward trend as the Bank expands its business. The Bank needs to strengthen its earning power to match the increase in expenses.
- (3) Its loan asset quality is favorable. The default rate of the housing loans, which account for majority of its lending, is low and the assets are secured by collateral. With regard to the securities, the Bank controls the risks as a whole with the securities mainly composed of high-rated floating rate bonds, mainly using funds raised through foreign currency deposits. However, JCR is paying attention to the interest rate risk trend, as the Bank's core housing loan products allow the customers to flexibly switch the interest rate types.
- (4) Its consolidated core capital ratio adjusted for the eligible Tier 2 capital instruments subject to phase-out arrangements, etc. was at around 8% as of September 30, 2020. The ratio has been on a downward trend in recent years along with an increase in the balance of housing loans. However, on February 25, the Bank increased its capital by 10 billion yen with SFH as the underwriter, which is expected to improve the consolidated core capital ratio. Although the risk-weighted assets, mainly housing loans, are expected to increase in the future, JCR believes that the Bank will be able to maintain a certain level of capital under its disciplined financial management policy.
- (5) SONY CORPORATION acquired 100% of SFH's voting rights in September 2020, making it a wholly owned subsidiary. The SONY Group has indicated that it intends to strengthen its integrated management with SFH. However, JCR believes that SFH will continue to maintain a certain degree of independence from the SONY Group, given that (i) SFH is subject to soundness regulations and (ii) SFH's financial business is positioned as a core business of the SONY Group, and the maintaining a high level of creditworthiness is crucial to the smooth operation.

3 The Main Assumptions and Principles used in Constructing the Procedures and Methodologies used to Determine the Credit Rating as Required by Paragraph (a)(1)(ii)(C) of Rule 17g-7

- The credit rating methodology assumes, in principle, to be applied to assess the likelihood of a given debt payment in light of its issuer's condition and business environment, etc. in the relevant future. There is certain limitation, however, in the time horizon that the rating foresees.
- The credit rating methodology assumes, in principle, that the factors posted in the below are particularly important for such likelihood to be determined, and that the rating determination is made by evaluating each of them not only quantitatively but also employing qualitative analyses.

A) Business Bases

The likelihood of a given debt payment is highly conditional to its issuer's business bases - how they can be maintained/ expanded into the future and thereby secure earnings and cash flows in adequacy and in a sustainable way.

B) Financial Grounds and Asset Quality

The likelihood of debt payment is highly dependent on the degree of the issuer's indebtedness and loss absorption capacity in terms of equity capital. Also notable is that a financial institution might see a significant loss of financial grounds as a result of changes in value of the assets under its possession.

C) Liquidity Positions

The likelihood of debt payment is highly dependent on the adequacy of the issuer's cash and other sources of repayment (liquidity positions).

D) Related Parties' Status and Stance of Support/ Assistance for the Issuer

The likelihood of debt payment is affected one way or the other by the issuer's related parties such as parent company, subsidiary, guarantor, and the government of the issuer's business domicile, etc. - by their own conditions and/ or position of support/ assistance for the issuer.

E) Order of Seniority in Debt Payment

The likelihood of debt payment can be different between given debts of the same issuer. The likelihood of debt payment for an individual debt is dependent on the issuer's discretion, and/ or its rank relative to other debts of the same issuer in the order of seniority in principal/ interest payment which is determined by design as financial product or by laws, etc.

Also, the changes in the quality of asset under the issuer's holding may affect the credit rating, since such changes could raise or lower the likelihood of future loss of the issuer's financial grounds. The resultant alteration of the credit rating is usually by a notch, with possibility of a few notches if and when the change in the financial grounds and/ or asset quality is large.

Also, in case of the financial products for which non-payment of interest/ principal is contractually permissible, the credit rating is subject to alteration if and when the likelihood of such non-payment is projected to increase or decrease.
