

Japan Credit Rating Agency, Ltd. (JCR) announces the following credit rating.

Sumitomo Riko Company Limited (security code: 5191)

<Affirmation>

Long-term Issuer Rating:	A
Outlook:	Stable
Bonds:	A
Shelf Registration:	Preliminary A
CP:	J-1

Rationale

- (1) Sumitomo Riko Company Limited (the “Company”) is the world’s top manufacturer of automotive anti-vibration rubber products and automotive hoses. It is a consolidated subsidiary of Sumitomo Electric Industries, Ltd. (“Sumitomo Electric Industries”). The Company has been working to establish a global supply structure and expand sales to non-Japanese automakers. The medium-term management plan aims to stabilize the earnings and financial base through business structure reforms at bases where improving earnings is an issue, as well as to make efficient use of management resources. It also sets numerical targets such as a business profit of 28 billion yen in the final fiscal year of 2025.
- (2) The Company’s ratings reflect the creditworthiness of Sumitomo Electric Industries. Although the Company is a listed company and does not have a high degree of control/involvement from Sumitomo Electric Industries, it is of considerable importance in Sumitomo Electric Industries’s automotive business as a manufacturer of automotive anti-vibration rubber and automotive hoses. In recent years, profit margins have been sluggish due to upfront investments in establishing a global supply system and a deteriorating business environment, but earnings have recently improved significantly on the back of an improved earnings structure and recovery in auto production. Productivity is also ameliorating in the U.S., where the Company has been promoting business structural reforms, and solid consolidated earnings are expected over the medium term. Financial soundness is also maintained. Based on the above, JCR has affirmed the ratings on the Company with Stable outlook.
- (3) Business profit (IFRS) for the fiscal year ending March 31, 2024 is planned to be 28 billion yen, an increase of 56.7% year on year. In addition to the improved earnings structure and a recovery in auto production, progress in recouping increased costs from customers and the launch of profitable products are expected to contribute to increasing profits. Profit and loss in the Americas segment also showed a significant improvement. Over the medium term, solid consolidated earnings are assumed due to the improved earnings structure and product profitability. JCR is focusing on the improvement of the profit and loss of the anti-vibration rubber business in Europe and the expansion of sales to non-Japanese automakers.
- (4) Financial soundness has been maintained, with the equity ratio remaining at around 40% in recent years. Given the Company’s policy for efficient use of management resources and future cash flow forecasts, it is considered possible to maintain or improve the current financial structure over the medium term.

- Please see the news release. If the credit rating is a private rating, please see the report for private rating.

3 The Main Assumptions and Principles used in Constructing the Procedures and Methodologies used to Determine the Credit Rating as Required by Paragraph (a)(1)(ii)(C) of Rule 17g-7

- The credit rating methodology assumes, in principle, to be applied to assess the likelihood of a given debt payment in light of its issuer's condition and business environment, etc. in the relevant future. There is certain limitation, however, in the time horizon that the rating foresees.
- The credit rating methodology assumes, in principle, that the factors posted in the below are particularly important for such likelihood to be determined, and that the rating determination is made by evaluating each of them not only quantitatively but also employing qualitative analyses.

A) Business Bases

The likelihood of a given debt payment is highly conditional to its issuer's business bases - how they can be maintained/ expanded into the future and thereby secure earnings and cash flows in adequacy and in a sustainable way.

B) Financial Grounds and Asset Quality

The likelihood of debt payment is highly dependent on the degree of the issuer's indebtedness and loss absorption capacity in terms of equity capital. Also notable is that a financial institution might see a significant loss of financial grounds as a result of changes in value of the assets under its possession.

C) Liquidity Positions

The likelihood of debt payment is highly dependent on the adequacy of the issuer's cash and other sources of repayment (liquidity positions).

D) Related Parties' Status and Stance of Support/ Assistance for the Issuer

The likelihood of debt payment is affected one way or the other by the issuer's related parties such as parent company, subsidiary, guarantor, and the government of the issuer's business domicile, etc. - by their own conditions and/ or position of support/ assistance for the issuer.

E) Order of Seniority in Debt Payment

The likelihood of debt payment can be different between given debts of the same issuer. The likelihood of debt payment for an individual debt is dependent on the issuer's discretion, and/ or its rank relative to other debts of the same issuer in the order of seniority in principal/ interest payment which is determined by design as financial product or by laws, etc.

4 The Potential Limitations of the Credit Rating as Required by Paragraph (a)(1)(ii)(D) of Rule 17g-7

- The credit rating herewith presented by JCR is its summary opinion with regard to the likelihood of given debt payment and hence not necessarily a perfect representation of such likelihood. The credit rating is not intended to estimate the probability of default or the loss on given default, either.
- The objective of the credit rating herewith presented does not include any concerns other than the likelihood of debt payment, such as risks of price changes, market liquidity, etc.
- The credit rating herewith presented is necessary to be reviewed along with possible changes of the issuer of rated objects in its business performance and/ or circumstances which include regulatory environment, and hence subject to possible alteration.

11 Explanation or Measure of the Potential Volatility of the Credit Rating as Required by Paragraph (a)(1)(ii)(K) of Rule 17g-7

A) Business Bases

The resultant alteration of the credit rating is usually by a notch, with possibility of a few notches if and when the change in the business bases is large.

B) Financial Grounds and Asset Quality

The credit rating is subject to alteration if the issuer increases/ decreases its debt/ capital or vice versa and thereby makes its individual debt payment liability less or more bearable and its loss absorption capacity into the future decreased or increased. Also, the changes in the quality of asset under the issuer's holding may affect the credit rating, since such changes could raise or lower the likelihood of future loss of the issuer's financial grounds. The resultant alteration of the credit rating is usually by a notch, with possibility of a few notches if and when the change in the financial grounds and/ or asset quality is large.

C) Liquidity Positions

The credit rating is subject to alteration if there is a change in the issuer's financial management policy or in the relations with fund procurement sources and the change thereby makes its liquidity positions improve or deteriorate. The resultant alteration of the credit rating is usually by a notch, with possibility of a few notches if and when the change is large.

D) Related Parties' Status and Stance of Support/ Assistance for the Issuer

The credit rating is subject to alteration if there is a change in the issuer's parent company or subsidiary, guarantor or other provider of credit enhancement, or the government of the issuer's business domicile, or other related parties' own conditions and/ or position of support/ assistance for the issuer, and the change thereby makes its business bases, financial grounds and/ or liquidity positions improve or deteriorate, and/ or making the effectiveness of guarantee and other credit enhancement improve or deteriorate. The resultant alteration of the credit rating is usually a notch, with possibility of a few notches if and when the change is large.

E) Order of Seniority in Debt Payment and Non-Payment Forgiven by Contract

The credit rating is subject to alteration if there is a change in the rated debt's status in the order of seniority relative to other debts caused by the improvement/ deterioration of the issuer's financial condition. The resultant alteration of the credit rating is usually a notch, with possibility of a few notches if and when the change is large. Also, in case of the financial products for which non-payment of interest/ principal is contractually permissible, the credit rating is subject to alteration if and when the likelihood of such non-payment is projected to increase or decrease. The resultant alteration of the credit rating could be by a notch but often as much as a few notches.

F) Rise and Fall in General Economy and Markets

The credit rating is subject to alteration if there is a rise/ fall in the general economy and/ or the markets inducing the issuer's revenues/ expenses to increase/ decrease and vice versa, etc. The resultant alteration of the credit rating is usually by a notch, with possibility of a few notches if and when the change is exceptionally large.

G) Various Events

The credit rating is subject to alteration on occurrence of various events, such as change in the issuer's major shareholders, M&A and other organizational change, accident, violation of the law, litigation, legal/ regulatory change, natural disaster, etc., which are unforeseeable at the time when the credit rating is determined, causing a significant change on the issuer's business bases, financial grounds, etc. The resultant alteration of the credit rating could be by a notch but more often than not as much as a few notches.
