

Japan Credit Rating Agency, Ltd. (JCR) announces the following credit rating.

artience Co., Ltd. (security code: 4634)

<Affirmation>

Long-term Issuer Rating: Ap
Outlook: Stable

Rationale

- (1) artience Co., Ltd. (the “Company”) is the holding company of a group of chemical manufacturers mainly producing fine chemical materials. It has TOYOCOLOR CO., LTD., TOYOCEM CO., LTD., TOYO INK CO., LTD. and other operating companies under its umbrella. Considering the strong integrity of the artience Group, the rating reflects the creditworthiness of the entire Group. Having core technologies in synthesis, dispersion and film formation, the Company operates a broad range of segments including Colorants and Functional Materials; Polymers and Coatings; Packaging Materials; and Printing and Information. It boasts high market shares for such products as printing inks, LCD color filter materials and UV-curable inks.
- (2) The Company’s good business foundation remains unchanged. It has stable earning capacity through the well-balanced business portfolio. Amid ongoing cost increases such as raw material prices, the Company is still steadily making progress in passing on costs to prices. There remains a high degree of uncertainty in the business environment caused by the deteriorated Middle East situation, the impacts on revenue have been suppressed through working on optimization of the supply chain management and others. On the back of these, stable cash flow generation capacity appears to be maintained continuously. Furthermore, financial structure is stable and there is little concern that financial risk will largely increase for the foreseeable future. Based on the above, JCR has affirmed the rating on the Company with a Stable outlook.
- (3) The Company achieved a record high profit for two fiscal years in a row, reporting an operating income of 20.8 billion yen, up 1.7% over the year, for the fiscal year ended December 2025 (FY2025). This was attributable to steady performance of the pressure sensitive adhesives for displays, which is a strategic focused business, in addition to the core businesses of gravure inks and metal coatings. FY2026, the Company expects a further profit increase, projecting an operating income of 23 billion yen, up 10.8% over the year. In response to slowing down of growth of EV market, profit contribution of the CNT dispersions for LiBs is slower than initially expected. That said, the EV market is expected to expand over the medium to long-term, and JCR will watch whether the said product will be the profit growth driver going forward.
- (4) Financial position is sound, as indicated by equity ratio and D/E ratio as at the end of the first quarter of FY2026 were 58.8% and 0.31x, as opposed to 57.5% and 0.32x as at the end of FY2025 respectively. Recently, the Company has been executing capital investments exceeding the depreciation expenses and also actively working on returning profits to shareholders. Compared to the profit growth, building up retained earnings is somewhat slow, but the Company has certain resilience against business risks and others as shown by the equity capital remaining in the middle of 200 billion yen range. Considering the stable cash flow generation capacity in addition to the above, JCR sees there is little concern that the financial structure will largely deteriorate for the time being.

The Main Assumptions and Principles used in Constructing the Procedures and Methodologies used to Determine the Credit Rating as Required by Paragraph (a)(1)(ii)(C) of Rule 17g-7

- The credit rating methodology assumes, in principle, to be applied to assess the likelihood of a given debt payment in light of its issuer's condition and business environment, etc. in the relevant future. There is certain limitation, however, in the time horizon that the rating foresees.
- The credit rating methodology assumes, in principle, that the factors posted in the below are particularly important for such likelihood to be determined, and that the rating determination is made by evaluating each of them not only quantitatively but also employing qualitative analyses.

A) Business Bases

The likelihood of a given debt payment is highly conditional to its issuer's business bases - how they can be maintained/ expanded into the future and thereby secure earnings and cash flows in adequacy and in a sustainable way.

B) Financial Grounds and Asset Quality

The likelihood of debt payment is highly dependent on the degree of the issuer's indebtedness and loss absorption capacity in terms of equity capital. Also notable is that a financial institution might see a significant loss of financial grounds as a result of changes in value of the assets under its possession.

C) Liquidity Positions

The likelihood of debt payment is highly dependent on the adequacy of the issuer's cash and other sources of repayment (liquidity positions).

D) Related Parties' Status and Stance of Support/ Assistance for the Issuer

The likelihood of debt payment is affected one way or the other by the issuer's related parties such as parent company, subsidiary, guarantor, and the government of the issuer's business domicile, etc. - by their own conditions and/ or position of support/ assistance for the issuer.

E) Order of Seniority in Debt Payment

The likelihood of debt payment can be different between given debts of the same issuer. The likelihood of debt payment for an individual debt is dependent on the issuer's discretion, and/ or its rank relative to other debts of the same issuer in the order of seniority in principal/ interest payment which is determined by design as financial product or by laws, etc.

4 The Potential Limitations of the Credit Rating as Required by Paragraph (a)(1)(ii)(D) of Rule 17g-7

- The credit rating herewith presented by JCR is its summary opinion with regard to the likelihood of given debt payment and hence not necessarily a perfect representation of such likelihood. The credit rating is not intended to estimate the probability of default or the loss on given default, either.
- The objective of the credit rating herewith presented does not include any concerns other than the likelihood of debt payment, such as risks of price changes, market liquidity, etc.
- The credit rating herewith presented is necessary to be reviewed along with possible changes of the issuer of rated objects in its business performance and/ or circumstances which include regulatory environment, and hence subject to possible alteration.

B) Financial Grounds and Asset Quality

The credit rating is subject to alteration if the issuer increases/ decreases its debt/ capital or vice versa and thereby makes its individual debt payment liability less or more bearable and its loss absorption capacity into the future decreased or increased. Also, the changes in the quality of asset under the issuer's holding may affect the credit rating, since such changes could raise or lower the likelihood of future loss of the issuer's financial grounds. The resultant alteration of the credit rating is usually by a notch, with possibility of a few notches if and when the change in the financial grounds and/ or asset quality is large.

C) Liquidity Positions

The credit rating is subject to alteration if there is a change in the issuer's financial management policy or in the relations with fund procurement sources and the change thereby makes its liquidity positions improve or deteriorate. The resultant alteration of the credit rating is usually by a notch, with possibility of a few notches if and when the change is large.

D) Related Parties' Status and Stance of Support/ Assistance for the Issuer

The credit rating is subject to alteration if there is a change in the issuer's parent company or subsidiary, guarantor or other provider of credit enhancement, or the government of the issuer's business domicile, or other related parties' own conditions and/ or position of support/ assistance for the issuer, and the change thereby makes its business bases, financial grounds and/ or liquidity positions improve or deteriorate, and/ or making the effectiveness of guarantee and other credit enhancement improve or deteriorate. The resultant alteration of the credit rating is usually a notch, with possibility of a few notches if and when the change is large.

E) Order of Seniority in Debt Payment and Non-Payment Forgiven by Contract

The credit rating is subject to alteration if there is a change in the rated debt's status in the order of seniority relative to other debts caused by the improvement/ deterioration of the issuer's financial condition. The resultant alteration of the credit rating is usually a notch, with possibility of a few notches if and when the change is large. Also, in case of the financial products for which non-payment of interest/ principal is contractually permissible, the credit rating is subject to alteration if and when the likelihood of such non-payment is projected to increase or decrease. The resultant alteration of the credit rating could be by a notch but often as much as a few notches.

The credit rating herewith presented could be changed if and when the assumptions made at the time of its determination turn out to be inaccurate with regard to the issuer's financial grounds and asset quality.
