

Japan Credit Rating Agency, Ltd. (JCR) announces the following credit rating.

DAIICHI JITSUGYO CO., LTD. (security code: 8059)

<Affirmation>

Long-term Issuer Rating: A-
Outlook: Stable

Rationale

- (1) DAIICHI JITSUGYO CO., LTD. (the “Company”) is an independent trading company specializing in machinery. It handles a wide range of products, including various types of plant equipment, SMT (surface mount technology) systems and injection molding machines, and the overseas sales ratio reaches nearly 50%. The Company aims to become a next-generation engineering trading firm as a medium to long-term growth strategy. In addition to selling equipment, it is working to strengthen its own engineering capabilities so that it can improve its ability to make proposals and technical capabilities for users’ investment plans. As part of this effort, in July 2023 it acquired Wave Engineering Corporation, a company with simulation engineering capabilities as its strength.
- (2) Its earning capacity is stable due to a well-diversified business portfolio. The backlog of orders in the energy solutions business, automotive business, etc. has been steadily growing, backed by strengthened engineering capabilities. In response to the weak yen and high purchasing costs, the Company is ensuring profitability through forward exchange contracts and thorough pass-through to sales prices, and its business performance will continue to be strong, in JCR’s view. On the financial front, the Company has been in a net debt-free status for a long period of time. There is no change in its investment policy with an awareness of financial soundness, and the Company will likely be able to maintain the current financial structure. Based on the above, JCR has affirmed the rating on the Company with Stable outlook.
- (3) Operating income for the fiscal year ending March 31, 2024 (FY2023) is planned to be 7.5 billion yen (up 11.6% year on year). The main factors contributing to the income increase are the expanded sales of automatic assembly lines and painting lines for the automobile-related industry, and ground support machinery/equipment for aircraft; in addition to the end of the provision for loss on order received. Trends in order acceptance are strong, and the Company has been able to receive large projects with long delivery times, from which it can expect contribution to business results over the medium term. Attention should be paid to the economic slowdown in China, but because it has been able to capture demand associated with the transfer of production from China to other regions, the impact is expected to be limited. In order to expand business performance going forward, it is important to expand transactions with local companies overseas. JCR will pay attention to whether the Company can increase its earning capacity, working to quickly make local unman resources into the workforce and further strengthen its engineering capabilities.
- (4) The Company’s financial structure is favorable, with shareholders’ equity of 63.4 billion yen and an equity ratio of 41.6% at end-FY2022 (58.5 billion yen and 44.3% at end-FY2021, respectively). Although inventories remain at a high level, the Company has received orders for most of them and there is little concern that financial risks will increase. Under the current medium-term management plan, the Company intends to aggressively pursue business investment. With no change in its solid financial management policy, it will likely be able to maintain a certain level of financial soundness.

The Main Assumptions and Principles used in Constructing the Procedures and Methodologies used to Determine the Credit Rating as Required by Paragraph (a)(1)(ii)(C) of Rule 17g-7

- The credit rating methodology assumes, in principle, to be applied to assess the likelihood of a given debt payment in light of its issuer's condition and business environment, etc. in the relevant future. There is certain limitation, however, in the time horizon that the rating foresees.
- The credit rating methodology assumes, in principle, that the factors posted in the below are particularly important for such likelihood to be determined, and that the rating determination is made by evaluating each of them not only quantitatively but also employing qualitative analyses.

A) Business Bases

The likelihood of a given debt payment is highly conditional to its issuer's business bases - how they can be maintained/ expanded into the future and thereby secure earnings and cash flows in adequacy and in a sustainable way.

B) Financial Grounds and Asset Quality

The likelihood of debt payment is highly dependent on the degree of the issuer's indebtedness and loss absorption capacity in terms of equity capital. Also notable is that a financial institution might see a significant loss of financial grounds as a result of changes in value of the assets under its possession.

C) Liquidity Positions

The likelihood of debt payment is highly dependent on the adequacy of the issuer's cash and other sources of repayment (liquidity positions).

D) Related Parties' Status and Stance of Support/ Assistance for the Issuer

The likelihood of debt payment is affected one way or the other by the issuer's related parties such as parent company, subsidiary, guarantor, and the government of the issuer's business domicile, etc. - by their own conditions and/ or position of support/ assistance for the issuer.

E) Order of Seniority in Debt Payment

The likelihood of debt payment can be different between given debts of the same issuer. The likelihood of debt payment for an individual debt is dependent on the issuer's discretion, and/ or its rank relative to other debts of the same issuer in the order of seniority in principal/ interest payment which is determined by design as financial product or by laws, etc.

4 The Potential Limitations of the Credit Rating as Required by Paragraph (a)(1)(ii)(D) of Rule 17g-7

- The credit rating herewith presented by JCR is its summary opinion with regard to the likelihood of given debt payment and hence not necessarily a perfect representation of such likelihood. The credit rating is not intended to estimate the probability of default or the loss on given default, either.
- The objective of the credit rating herewith presented does not include any concerns other than the likelihood of debt payment, such as risks of price changes, market liquidity, etc.
- The credit rating herewith presented is necessary to be reviewed along with possible changes of the issuer of rated objects in its business performance and/ or circumstances which include regulatory environment, and hence subject to possible alteration.

The credit rating is subject to alteration if the issuer increases/ decreases its debt/ capital or vice versa and thereby makes its individual debt payment liability less or more bearable and its loss absorption capacity into the future decreased or increased. Also, the changes in the quality of asset under the issuer's holding may affect the credit rating, since such changes could raise or lower the likelihood of future loss of the issuer's financial grounds. The resultant alteration of the credit rating is usually by a notch, with possibility of a few notches if and when the change in the financial grounds and/ or asset quality is large.
