

Japan Credit Rating Agency, Ltd. (JCR) announces the following credit rating.

Takara Leben Real Estate Investment Corporation

(security code: 3492)

<Outlook Change>

Long-term Issuer Rating: A-
Outlook: from Stable to Positive

Rationale

- (1) Takara Leben Real Estate Investment Corporation ("TLR"), which was listed on the Tokyo Stock Exchange (Real Estate Investment Trust Securities Market) in July 2018, is a diversified J-REIT specializing in offices, residences, hotels, retail, and other properties. TLR aims for steady growth and stable management by leveraging expertise and know-how of its sponsors: Takara Leben Co., Ltd. (ratio of investment in the asset management company: 60%), PAG Real Estate Holding Limited (30%), KYORITSU MAINTENANCE CO., LTD. (5%), and YAMADA HOLDINGS CO., LTD. (5%).
- (2) Since the public offering in September 2019, TLR has not implemented any external growth accompanied by capital increase, and the asset size remains at 37 properties with the total acquisition price of 84.9 billion yen, but efforts to increase stability of cash flow by replacing assets have been observed. At present, TLR seems to be building up a certain size of pipeline, mainly Takara Leben's development projects, and given the favorable financing environment, further progress in portfolio diversification through external growth is expected. In terms of the management of the properties, TLR maintains good performance in general, which JCR believes demonstrates a proper level of stress resistance as a diversified portfolio leveraging strengths of its sponsors. In terms of finances, conservative management has been generally maintained, including LTV control targeting the mid-40% range. In light of the fact that concerns about the TLR's investment management under the COVID-19 pandemic crisis have been dispelled, JCR revised the rating outlook from Stable to Positive, while affirming the rating. Going forward, JCR will pay attention to the progress as to whether TLR can steadily achieve external growth by utilizing sponsor pipeline as per strategy of the asset management company.
- (3) In the most recent asset replacements, while TLR sold 4 properties worth 9.7 billion yen, including an urban retail property in central Tokyo and office buildings in regional area, it acquired 5 properties worth 7.5 billion yen, including an office building in central Tokyo, rental housing in the suburbs of Osaka City, and land for regional retail properties. Given factors including the stability of leasing demand, age of the buildings, and long-term lease agreements with good tenants, JCR believes that these asset replacements will contribute to stabilizing the rent revenue, securing yields, and reducing burden of repair costs to a certain extent. In addition, the hotel in Nagoya that was closed due to the COVID-19 pandemic crisis was rebranded and reopened in May 2021 after a successor operator was quickly invited. For the time being, the rent system is linked to GOP, but a certain amount of rent revenue can be expected, depending on improvement of occupancy, in the future.
- (4) For the financial side, the total assets LTV was 46.0% on a book value basis and 43.5% on a market value basis (interest-bearing debt/ (total assets + unrealized gains/losses)) for the most recent fiscal period ended February 2021, and the LTV is generally low and controlled in a stable manner. In terms of lender formation, TLR continues its business relations with 16 financial institutions, mainly with Sumitomo Mitsui Banking Corporation, and there is no particular concern about its current financial management. Concerning the financing conditions, average remaining borrowing period and fixed interest rate ratio were 2.4 years and 87.4%, respectively, for the fiscal period ended February 2021. JCR will follow TLR's future efforts to build a stronger financial base by lengthening the loan terms and diversifying the maturity ladder.

The Main Assumptions and Principles used in Constructing the Procedures and Methodologies used to Determine the Credit Rating as Required by Paragraph (a)(1)(ii)(C) of Rule 17g-7

- The credit rating methodology assumes, in principle, to be applied to assess the likelihood of a given debt payment in light of its issuer's condition and market environment, etc. in the relevant future. There is certain limitation, however, in the time horizon that the rating foresees
- The credit rating methodology assumes, in principle, that the factors posted in the below are particularly important for such likelihood to be determined, and that the rating determination is made by evaluating each of them not only quantitatively but also employing qualitative analyses.

A) Portfolios

The likelihood of a given debt payment is highly conditional to its issuer's portfolios - how they can be maintained/ enhanced into the future and thereby secure earnings and cash flows in adequacy and in a sustainable way.

B) Financial Grounds and Asset Quality

The likelihood of debt payment is highly dependent on the degree of the issuer's indebtedness and loss absorption capacity in terms of equity capital. Also notable is that a J-REIT might see a significant loss of financial grounds as a result of changes in value of the assets under its possession.

C) Liquidity Positions

The likelihood of debt payment is highly dependent on the adequacy of the issuer's cash and other sources of repayment (liquidity positions) including certainty of refinancing.

D) Related Parties' Status and Stance of Support/ Assistance for the Issuer

The likelihood of debt payment is affected one way or the other by the issuer's related parties such as sponsor, asset manager, guarantor, and the government of the issuer's business domicile, etc. - by their own conditions and/ or position of support/ assistance for the issuer.

E) Order of Seniority in Debt Payment

The likelihood of debt payment can be different between given debts of the same issuer. The likelihood of debt payment for an individual debt is dependent on the issuer's discretion, and/ or its rank relative to other debts of the same issuer in the order of seniority in principal/ interest payment which is determined by design as financial product or by laws, etc.

4 The Potential Limitations of the Credit Rating as Required by Paragraph (a)(1)(ii)(D) of Rule 17g-7

- The credit rating herewith presented by JCR is its summary opinion with regard to the likelihood of given debt payment and hence not necessarily a perfect representation of such likelihood. The credit rating is not intended to estimate the probability of default or the loss on given default, either.
- The objective of the credit rating herewith presented does not include any concerns other than the likelihood of debt payment, such as risks of price changes, market liquidity, etc.
- The credit rating herewith presented is necessary to be reviewed along with possible changes of the issuer of rated objects in its business performance and/ or circumstances which include regulatory environment, and hence subject to possible alteration.

11 Explanation or Measure of the Potential Volatility of the Credit Rating as Required by Paragraph (a)(1)(ii)(K) of Rule 17g-7

A) Portfolios

The credit rating is subject to alteration if there is improvement or deterioration of quality, competitive strength and diversification in the issuer's portfolios, since its revenue, etc. may improve or deteriorate by the change in its investment strategies, tenants' preferences, competitive situation, or a technological innovation. The resultant alteration of the credit rating is usually by a notch, with possibility of a few notches if and when the change in the portfolios is large.

B) Financial Grounds and Asset Quality

The credit rating is subject to alteration if the issuer increases/ decreases its debt/ capital or vice versa and thereby makes its individual debt payment liability less or more bearable and its loss absorption capacity into the future decreased or increased. Also, the changes in the quality of asset under the issuer's holding may affect the credit rating, since such changes could raise or lower the likelihood of future loss of the issuer's financial grounds. The resultant alteration of the credit rating is usually by a notch, with possibility of a few notches if and when the change in the financial grounds and/ or asset quality is large.

C) Liquidity Positions

The credit rating is subject to alteration if there is a change in the issuer's financial management policy or in the relations with fund procurement sources and the change thereby makes its liquidity positions improve or deteriorate. The resultant alteration of the credit rating is usually by a notch, with possibility of a few notches if and when the change is large.

D) Related Parties' Status and Stance of Support/ Assistance for the Issuer

The credit rating is subject to alteration if there is a change in the issuer's sponsor or asset manager, guarantor or other provider of credit enhancement, or the government of the issuer's business domicile, or other related parties' own conditions and/ or position of support/ assistance for the issuer, and the change thereby makes its portfolios, financial grounds and/ or liquidity positions improve or deteriorate, and/ or making the effectiveness of guarantee and other credit enhancement improve or deteriorate. The resultant alteration of the credit rating is usually a notch, with possibility of a few notches if and when the change is large.

E) Order of Seniority in Debt Payment and Non-Payment Forgiven by Contract

The credit rating is subject to alteration if there is a change in the rated debt's status in the order of seniority relative to other debts caused by the improvement/ deterioration of the issuer's financial condition. The resultant alteration of the credit rating is usually a notch, with possibility of a few notches if and when the change is large. Also, in case of the financial products for which non-payment of interest/ principal is contractually permissible, the credit rating is subject to alteration if and when the likelihood of such non-payment is projected to increase or decrease. The resultant alteration of the credit rating could be by a notch but often as much as a few notches.

F) Rise and Fall in General Economy and Markets

The credit rating is subject to alteration if there is a rise/ fall in the general economy and/ or the markets, of e.g. real estate or interest rates, inducing the issuer's revenues/ expenses to increase/ decrease and vice versa, etc. The resultant alteration of the credit rating is usually by a notch, with possibility of a few notches if and when the change is exceptionally large.

G) Various Events

The credit rating is subject to alteration on occurrence of various events, such as change in the issuer's sponsor or asset manager, M&A and other organizational change, accident, violation of the law, litigation, legal/ regulatory change, natural disaster, etc., which are unforeseeable at the time when the credit rating is determined, causing a significant change on the issuer's business bases, financial grounds, etc. The resultant alteration of the credit rating could be by a notch but more often than not as much as a few notches.
