

Japan Credit Rating Agency, Ltd. (JCR) announces the following credit rating.

TSUKISHIMA HOLDINGS CO., LTD. (security code: 6332)

<Affirmation>

Long-term Issuer Rating: A
Outlook: Stable
Bonds: A
Shelf Registration: Preliminary A

Rationale

- (1) TSUKISHIMA HOLDINGS CO., LTD. (the “Company”) is a holding company engaging in plant construction for the water environmental and industrial sectors. The Water Environmental Business has an advantage in sludge treatment and has established a stable business transaction base with the major customers of local governments. Furthermore, the Company integrated the domestic aqua engineering business of JFE Engineering Corporation into its operations in October 2023, thereby strengthening the business foundation. In the Industrial Business, it constructs plants for the chemical, steel, foods and environment/energy-related industries. The ratings reflect the group’s entire creditworthiness considering the holding company’s strong control over the group.
- (2) The business integration in the Water Environmental business has helped the business to strengthen the earning capacity as shown by the increased scale of the Life cycle business (PFI/DBO projects, comprehensive subcontracting and power generating using the feed-in-tariff system), a stable revenue source. This increases the margin to absorb volatility in the performance of the Industrial Business. Therefore, stability of the company-wide performance is increasing. The performance will also probably remain steady for the foreseeable future. Financial structure is good. Although the Company has indicated the policy to control the equity capital through actively returning profits to shareholders to achieve an ROE of 8% or above, JCR assumes that financial soundness will be maintained under a certain financial discipline. Based on the above, JCR has affirmed the ratings on the Company with a Stable outlook.
- (3) Operating income climbed 31.8% over the year to 8.9 billion yen for the fiscal year ended March 2025 (FY2024), achieving a record high. Although there was an increase in SG&A expenses due to the business integration, the Company absorbed these by the effect of revenue growth and elimination of the temporary expenses in the previous fiscal year. For FY2025, it intends to mark a record high consecutively projecting an operating income of 9.5 billion yen. Although an increase in SG&A expenses such as personnel costs is expected, the Company intends to offset these by the effect of revenue growth and other factors.
- (4) Equity ratio as at the end of FY2024 was 48.4%, improved from 42.0% a year before. Furthermore, interest-bearing debt was reduced using the operating cash flow of 18.4 billion yen, etc. as repayment resources and it restored net cash. On the other hand, the Company acquired treasury shares of 12.7 billion yen for FY2025, but it is highly likely that the favorable financial structure will be maintained due in part to recording of gain on sale of fixed assets of approximately 12 billion yen.

3

The Main Assumptions and Principles used in Constructing the Procedures and Methodologies used to Determine the Credit Rating as Required by Paragraph (a)(1)(ii)(C) of Rule 17g-7

- The credit rating methodology assumes, in principle, to be applied to assess the likelihood of a given debt payment in light of its issuer's condition and business environment, etc. in the relevant future. There is certain limitation, however, in the time horizon that the rating foresees.
- The credit rating methodology assumes, in principle, that the factors posted in the below are particularly important for such likelihood to be determined, and that the rating determination is made by evaluating each of them not only quantitatively but also employing qualitative analyses.

A) Business Bases

The likelihood of a given debt payment is highly conditional to its issuer's business bases - how they can be maintained/ expanded into the future and thereby secure earnings and cash flows in adequacy and in a sustainable way.

B) Financial Grounds and Asset Quality

The likelihood of debt payment is highly dependent on the degree of the issuer's indebtedness and loss absorption capacity in terms of equity capital. Also notable is that a financial institution might see a significant loss of financial grounds as a result of changes in value of the assets under its possession.

C) Liquidity Positions

The likelihood of debt payment is highly dependent on the adequacy of the issuer's cash and other sources of repayment (liquidity positions).

D) Related Parties' Status and Stance of Support/ Assistance for the Issuer

The likelihood of debt payment is affected one way or the other by the issuer's related parties such as parent company, subsidiary, guarantor, and the government of the issuer's business domicile, etc. - by their own conditions and/ or position of support/ assistance for the issuer.

E) Order of Seniority in Debt Payment

The likelihood of debt payment can be different between given debts of the same issuer. The likelihood of debt payment for an individual debt is dependent on the issuer's discretion, and/ or its rank relative to other debts of the same issuer in the order of seniority in principal/ interest payment which is determined by design as financial product or by laws, etc.

4 The Potential Limitations of the Credit Rating as Required by Paragraph (a)(1)(ii)(D) of Rule 17g-7

- The credit rating herewith presented by JCR is its summary opinion with regard to the likelihood of given debt payment and hence not necessarily a perfect representation of such likelihood. The credit rating is not intended to estimate the probability of default or the loss on given default, either.
- The objective of the credit rating herewith presented does not include any concerns other than the likelihood of debt payment, such as risks of price changes, market liquidity, etc.
- The credit rating herewith presented is necessary to be reviewed along with possible changes of the issuer of rated objects in its business performance and/ or circumstances which include regulatory environment, and hence subject to possible alteration.

The resultant alteration of the credit rating is usually by a notch, with possibility of a few notches if and when the change in the business bases is large.

B) Financial Grounds and Asset Quality

The credit rating is subject to alteration if the issuer increases/ decreases its debt/ capital or vice versa and thereby makes its individual debt payment liability less or more bearable and its loss absorption capacity into the future decreased or increased. Also, the changes in the quality of asset under the issuer's holding may affect the credit rating, since such changes could raise or lower the likelihood of future loss of the issuer's financial grounds. The resultant alteration of the credit rating is usually by a notch, with possibility of a few notches if and when the change in the financial grounds and/ or asset quality is large.

C) Liquidity Positions

The credit rating is subject to alteration if there is a change in the issuer's financial management policy or in the relations with fund procurement sources and the change thereby makes its liquidity positions improve or deteriorate. The resultant alteration of the credit rating is usually by a notch, with possibility of a few notches if and when the change is large.

D) Related Parties' Status and Stance of Support/ Assistance for the Issuer

The credit rating is subject to alteration if there is a change in the issuer's parent company or subsidiary, guarantor or other provider of credit enhancement, or the government of the issuer's business domicile, or other related parties' own conditions and/ or position of support/ assistance for the issuer, and the change thereby makes its business bases, financial grounds and/ or liquidity positions improve or deteriorate, and/ or making the effectiveness of guarantee and other credit enhancement improve or deteriorate. The resultant alteration of the credit rating is usually a notch, with possibility of a few notches if and when the change is large.

E) Order of Seniority in Debt Payment and Non-Payment Forgiven by Contract

The credit rating is subject to alteration if there is a change in the rated debt's status in the order of seniority relative to other debts caused by the improvement/ deterioration of the issuer's financial condition. The resultant alteration of the credit rating is usually a notch, with possibility of a few notches if and when the change is large. Also, in case of the financial products for which non-payment of interest/ principal is contractually permissible, the credit rating is subject to alteration if and when the likelihood of such non-payment is projected to increase or decrease. The resultant alteration of the credit rating could be by a notch but often as much as a few notches.

F) Rise and Fall in General Economy and Markets

The credit rating is subject to alteration if there is a rise/ fall in the general economy and/ or the markets inducing the issuer's revenues/ expenses to increase/ decrease and vice versa, etc. The resultant alteration of the credit rating is usually by a notch, with possibility of a few notches if and when the change is exceptionally large.

G) Various Events

B) Financial Grounds and Asset Quality

The credit rating herewith presented could be changed if and when the assumptions made at the time of its determination turn out to be inaccurate with regard to the issuer's financial grounds and asset quality. The change could be as much as a few notches if the issuer's financial structure differs so much and thereby the balance between debts shifted so greatly. Rating change is also possible in case of the financial products for which non-payment of interest/ principal is contractually permissible, if and when the assumptions made at the time of its determination turns out to be inaccurate. The change of the credit rating is assumed to be by a notch but often as much as a few notches.
