

Japan Credit Rating Agency, Ltd. (JCR) announces the following credit rating.

GS Yuasa Corporation (security code: 6674)

<Affirmation>

Long-term Issuer Rating:	A
Outlook:	Stable
Bonds:	A
CP:	J-1

Rationale

- (1) GS Yuasa Corporation (the “Company”) is a holding company established in 2004 through a business merger between former Japan Storage Battery Co., Ltd. and former Yuasa Corporation. As the unity of the group is recognized regarding the governance by the holding company, etc., JCR reflects the creditworthiness of the entire group in the ratings of the Company. For the production of its mainstay lead-acid batteries, the Company ranks second in the world, and ranks first in Japan and Asia. The manufacturing of automotive lithium-ion batteries is mainly handled by consolidated subsidiaries Blue Energy Co., Ltd. (BEC) and Lithium Energy Japan (LEJ). Going forward, the Company intends to start full-scale R&D on batteries for battery electric vehicles (BEVs) in collaboration with Honda Motor Co., Ltd. (“Honda Motor”).
- (2) Its earnings are expected to remain firm for the time being. Demand for lead-acid batteries for automobiles worldwide will likely increase along with economic growth in ASEAN and other countries, thereby boosting the sales volume. For automotive lithium-ion batteries, as the Company has been focusing on HEV-use where it has strengths, the downside risk of earnings has receded. Because it is also working to increase the production capacity, the earning capacity is assumed to expand over the medium term. In addition, revenues from replacement lead-acid batteries for automobiles and maintenance services for industrial-use products, which are less susceptible to economic fluctuations, will likely continue to support profits. On the financial front, the Company is expected to invest at a high level in areas such as battery-related products for BEVs, but given the forecasts for cash flow for the time being, the financial soundness seems to be maintained. Based on the above, JCR has affirmed the ratings with Stable outlook.
- (3) For the fiscal year ending March 2024 (FY2023), the Company plans to achieve a record high operating profit of 33 billion yen (up 4.8% year on year) for the second consecutive year. Despite rising costs for raw materials and fuels, the effects of higher sales volumes and product price revisions are expected to outweigh the cost rises. Solid earnings are assumed to be continued from FY2024 onward. The earning capacity will likely be strengthened by the sales expansion of products that are to see growth in demand, such as lithium-ion batteries for HEVs and industrial power storage systems related to renewable energy.
- (4) The equity ratio at the end of the first quarter of FY2023 was 42.9% (44.8% at end-FY2021). Although the ratio slightly deteriorated due to aggressive capital investments and an increase in working capital, it remains at a favorable level. It was announced that the BEV batteries business by the three companies of Honda Motor, the Company and BEC amounts about 434.1 billion yen in total. Even if looked at the actual financial burden of the Company group by excluding the subsidy from the Ministry of Economy, Trade and Industry (up to about 158.7 billion yen) and Honda Motor’s burden, the amount of investment will likely be large for the time being, and its interest-bearing debt will also expand. However, there is no change in the Company’s policy of emphasizing financial discipline, such as targeting an equity ratio of 40% or more in FY2025. Moreover, as its equity capital will grow in line with profit accumulation, JCR believes that the Company will be able to maintain a favorable financial position going forward.

2 The version of the procedure or methodology used to determine the credit rating; as Required by Paragraph (a)(1)(ii)(B) of Rule 17g-7

- Please see the news release. If the credit rating is a private rating, please see the report for private rating.

3 The Main Assumptions and Principles used in Constructing the Procedures and Methodologies used to Determine the Credit Rating as Required by Paragraph (a)(1)(ii)(C) of Rule 17g-7

- The credit rating methodology assumes, in principle, to be applied to assess the likelihood of a given debt payment in light of its issuer's condition and business environment, etc. in the relevant future. There is certain limitation, however, in the time horizon that the rating foresees.
- The credit rating methodology assumes, in principle, that the factors posted in the below are particularly important for such likelihood to be determined, and that the rating determination is made by evaluating each of them not only quantitatively but also employing qualitative analyses.

A) Business Bases

The likelihood of a given debt payment is highly conditional to its issuer's business bases - how they can be maintained/ expanded into the future and thereby secure earnings and cash flows in adequacy and in a sustainable way.

B) Financial Grounds and Asset Quality

The likelihood of debt payment is highly dependent on the degree of the issuer's indebtedness and loss absorption capacity in terms of equity capital. Also notable is that a financial institution might see a significant loss of financial grounds as a result of changes in value of the assets under its possession.

C) Liquidity Positions

The likelihood of debt payment is highly dependent on the adequacy of the issuer's cash and other sources of repayment (liquidity positions).

D) Related Parties' Status and Stance of Support/ Assistance for the Issuer

The likelihood of debt payment is affected one way or the other by the issuer's related parties such as parent company, subsidiary, guarantor, and the government of the issuer's business domicile, etc. - by their own conditions and/ or position of support/ assistance for the issuer.

E) Order of Seniority in Debt Payment

The likelihood of debt payment can be different between given debts of the same issuer. The likelihood of debt payment for an individual debt is dependent on the issuer's discretion, and/ or its rank relative to other debts of the same issuer in the order of seniority in principal/ interest payment which is determined by design as financial product or by laws, etc.

4 The Potential Limitations of the Credit Rating as Required by Paragraph (a)(1)(ii)(D) of Rule 17g-7

- The credit rating herewith presented by JCR is its summary opinion with regard to the likelihood of given debt payment and hence not necessarily a perfect representation of such likelihood. The credit rating is not intended to estimate the probability of default or the loss on given default, either.
- The objective of the credit rating herewith presented does not include any concerns other than the likelihood of debt payment, such as risks of price changes, market liquidity, etc.
- The credit rating herewith presented is necessary to be reviewed along with possible changes of the issuer of rated objects in its business performance and/ or circumstances which include regulatory environment, and hence subject to possible alteration.

The credit rating is subject to alteration if there is improvement or deterioration of the issuer's business bases, since its revenue, etc. may improve or deteriorate by the change in its business management policies, clients' preferences, competitive situation, or a technological innovation. The resultant alteration of the credit rating is usually by a notch, with possibility of a few notches if and when the change in the business bases is large.

B) Financial Grounds and Asset Quality

The credit rating is subject to alteration if the issuer increases/ decreases its debt/ capital or vice versa and thereby makes its individual debt payment liability less or more bearable and its loss absorption capacity into the future decreased or increased. Also, the changes in the quality of asset under the issuer's holding may affect the credit rating, since such changes could raise or lower the likelihood of future loss of the issuer's financial grounds. The resultant alteration of the credit rating is usually by a notch, with possibility of a few notches if and when the change in the financial grounds and/ or asset quality is large.

C) Liquidity Positions

The credit rating is subject to alteration if there is a change in the issuer's financial management policy or in the relations with fund procurement sources and the change thereby makes its liquidity positions improve or deteriorate. The resultant alteration of the credit rating is usually by a notch, with possibility of a few notches if and when the change is large.

D) Related Parties' Status and Stance of Support/ Assistance for the Issuer

The credit rating is subject to alteration if there is a change in the issuer's parent company or subsidiary, guarantor or other provider of credit enhancement, or the government of the issuer's business domicile, or other related parties' own conditions and/ or position of support/ assistance for the issuer, and the change thereby makes its business bases, financial grounds and/ or liquidity positions improve or deteriorate, and/ or making the effectiveness of guarantee and other credit enhancement improve or deteriorate. The resultant alteration of the credit rating is usually a notch, with possibility of a few notches if and when the change is large.

E) Order of Seniority in Debt Payment and Non-Payment Forgiven by Contract

The credit rating is subject to alteration if there is a change in the rated debt's status in the order of seniority relative to other debts caused by the improvement/ deterioration of the issuer's financial condition. The resultant alteration of the credit rating is usually a notch, with possibility of a few notches if and when the change is large. Also, in case of the financial products for which non-payment of interest/ principal is contractually permissible, the credit rating is subject to alteration if and when the likelihood of such non-payment is projected to increase or decrease. The resultant alteration of the credit rating could be by a notch but often as much as a few notches.

F) Rise and Fall in General Economy and Markets

The credit rating is subject to alteration if there is a rise/ fall in the general economy and/ or the markets inducing the issuer's revenues/ expenses to increase/ decrease and vice versa, etc. The resultant alteration of the credit rating is usually by a notch, with possibility of a few notches if and when the change is exceptionally large.

G) Various Events

The credit rating is subject to alteration on occurrence of various events, such as change in the issuer's major shareholders, M&A and other organizational change, accident, violation of the law, litigation, legal/ regulatory change, natural disaster, etc., which are unforeseeable at the time when the credit rating is determined, causing a significant change on the issuer's business bases, financial grounds, etc. The resultant alteration of the credit rating could be by a notch but more often than not as much as a few notches.
