

Japan Credit Rating Agency, Ltd. (JCR) announces the following credit rating.

DHLCF GK (security code: -)

<Affirmation>

Long-term Issuer Rating: AA-
Outlook: Stable

Rationale

- (1) DHLCF GK is an investment vehicle that assumes a role of holding investment properties and handling fundraising for Daiwa House Logistics Core Fund (the “Fund”), an open-ended private placement core fund launched in December 2020 by DAIWA HOUSE INDUSTRY CO., LTD. Daiwa House Asset Management Co., Ltd. acts as the asset manager. The Fund invests in domestic logistics facilities developed by the Daiwa House Group (the “Group”) and is operated based on the going concern assumption. The portfolio currently consists of 11 properties centering on advanced logistics facilities developed by the sponsor and the asset size based on the acquisition price is just under 240 billion yen.
- (2) Quality of the portfolio has improved as shown that it made additional acquisitions of the existing properties held and acquired newer properties in rural areas through capital increases for the last one year. Track records of good management conditions and occupancy status (occupancy rate as at the end of December 2025: 100%), including tenant credit and relatively long-term tenancy agreements, can be observed. In addition to these, considering that specifications of the properties held are relatively high considering the location, building age and grade, and the expectation that the sponsor group’s extensive expertise and knowhow in development and operation in the real estate businesses will be utilized, JCR sees that the Fund will probably be able to continue stable leasing operations into the future. On the financial front, the Fund’s lender composition centering on major banks remains unchanged and LTV (interest-bearing debt at the end of a fiscal period / (total assets at the end of a fiscal period + cumulative TK principal refund amount)) stays at the level assumed by the Fund, 40% to 45%. Based on the above, JCR has affirmed the rating on DHLCF GK with a Stable outlook.
- (3) The Fund sets a medium-term target of bringing the asset size to 300 billion yen. While properties are acquired only from the sponsor, JCR assumes that constant external growth will be pursued into the future by taking advantage of an abundant pipeline properties developed by the Group’s development ability, as well as the sponsor’s support. On the other hand, although it is being mitigated along with expansion of the asset size, the tenant concentration is somewhat high as indicated by the top two tenants accounting for approximately 30% of rent income. Therefore, further diversification in properties and tenants along with asset expansion continues to be expected. As for internal growth, since logistics facilities have characteristics of fewer opportunities for rent revisions compared to other asset types, JCR will also pay attention to whether it can increase the amount of rent sufficiently at the time of rent revisions.
- (4) The Fund provides a scheme to ensure financial soundness to a certain extent through financial covenants, including the withholding of equity dividends triggered by LTV and DSCR, certain restrictions on requests for investment refunds from equity investors and so forth. On the other hand, compared with J-REITs where the constraints of related laws and regulations are relatively severe, the governance and transparency of fund management are flexibly designed based on the Fund’s strategies and the interests of the parties concerned. JCR finds no particular concerns in light of past performance but will nevertheless keep an eye on the status of the asset manager’s future efforts, including information disclosure to investors.

The Main Assumptions and Principles used in Constructing the Procedures and Methodologies used to Determine the Credit Rating as Required by Paragraph (a)(1)(ii)(C) of Rule 17g-7

- The credit rating methodology assumes, in principle, to be applied to assess the likelihood of a given debt payment in light of its issuer's condition and market environment, etc. in the relevant future. There is certain limitation, however, in the time horizon that the rating foresees
- The credit rating methodology assumes, in principle, that the factors posted in the below are particularly important for such likelihood to be determined, and that the rating determination is made by evaluating each of them not only quantitatively but also employing qualitative analyses.

A) Portfolios

The likelihood of a given debt payment is highly conditional to its issuer's portfolios - how they can be maintained/ enhanced into the future and thereby secure earnings and cash flows in adequacy and in a sustainable way.

B) Financial Grounds and Asset Quality

The likelihood of debt payment is highly dependent on the degree of the issuer's indebtedness and loss absorption capacity in terms of equity capital. Also notable is that a J-REIT might see a significant loss of financial grounds as a result of changes in value of the assets under its possession.

C) Liquidity Positions

The likelihood of debt payment is highly dependent on the adequacy of the issuer's cash and other sources of repayment (liquidity positions) including certainty of refinancing.

D) Related Parties' Status and Stance of Support/ Assistance for the Issuer

The likelihood of debt payment is affected one way or the other by the issuer's related parties such as sponsor, asset manager, guarantor, and the government of the issuer's business domicile, etc. - by their own conditions and/ or position of support/ assistance for the issuer.

E) Order of Seniority in Debt Payment

The likelihood of debt payment can be different between given debts of the same issuer. The likelihood of debt payment for an individual debt is dependent on the issuer's discretion, and/ or its rank relative to other debts of the same issuer in the order of seniority in principal/ interest payment which is determined by design as financial product or by laws, etc.

4 The Potential Limitations of the Credit Rating as Required by Paragraph (a)(1)(ii)(D) of Rule 17g-7

- The credit rating herewith presented by JCR is its summary opinion with regard to the likelihood of given debt payment and hence not necessarily a perfect representation of such likelihood. The credit rating is not intended to estimate the probability of default or the loss on given default, either.
- The objective of the credit rating herewith presented does not include any concerns other than the likelihood of debt payment, such as risks of price changes, market liquidity, etc.
- The credit rating herewith presented is necessary to be reviewed along with possible changes of the issuer of rated objects in its business performance and/ or circumstances which include regulatory environment, and hence subject to possible alteration.

5 Information on the Uncertainty of the Credit Rating as Required by Paragraph (a)(1)(ii)(E) of Rule 17g-7

Consequently, the credit rating determined on the grounds of such information does not constitute, explicitly or implicitly, any representation or warrant of JCR on the information itself or any consequences of its use in terms of accuracy, relevance, timeliness, wholeness, market value, or usefulness for any specific purposes.

11 Explanation or Measure of the Potential Volatility of the Credit Rating as Required by Paragraph (a)(1)(ii)(K) of Rule 17g-7

A) Portfolios

The credit rating is subject to alteration if there is improvement or deterioration of quality, competitive strength and diversification in the issuer's portfolios, since its revenue, etc. may improve or deteriorate by the change in its investment strategies, tenants' preferences, competitive situation, or a technological innovation. The resultant alteration of the credit rating is usually by a notch, with possibility of a few notches if and when the change in the portfolios is large.

B) Financial Grounds and Asset Quality

The credit rating is subject to alteration if the issuer increases/ decreases its debt/ capital or vice versa and thereby makes its individual debt payment liability less or more bearable and its loss absorption capacity into the future decreased or increased. Also, the changes in the quality of asset under the issuer's holding may affect the credit rating, since such changes could raise or lower the likelihood of future loss of the issuer's financial grounds. The resultant alteration of the credit rating is usually by a notch, with possibility of a few notches if and when the change in the financial grounds and/ or asset quality is large.

C) Liquidity Positions

The credit rating is subject to alteration if there is a change in the issuer's financial management policy or in the relations with fund procurement sources and the change thereby makes its liquidity positions improve or deteriorate. The resultant alteration of the credit rating is usually by a notch, with possibility of a few notches if and when the change is large.

D) Related Parties' Status and Stance of Support/ Assistance for the Issuer

The credit rating is subject to alteration if there is a change in the issuer's sponsor or asset manager, guarantor or other provider of credit enhancement, or the government of the issuer's business domicile, or other related parties' own conditions and/ or position of support/ assistance for the issuer, and the change thereby makes its portfolios, financial grounds and/ or liquidity positions improve or deteriorate, and/ or making the effectiveness of guarantee and other credit enhancement improve or deteriorate. The resultant alteration of the credit rating is usually a notch, with possibility of a few notches if and when the change is large.

E) Order of Seniority in Debt Payment and Non-Payment Forgiven by Contract

The credit rating is subject to alteration if there is a change in the rated debt's status in the order of seniority relative to other debts caused by the improvement/ deterioration of the issuer's financial condition. The resultant alteration of the credit rating is usually a notch, with possibility of a few notches if and when the change is large. Also, in case of the financial products for which non-payment of interest/ principal is contractually permissible, the credit rating is subject to alteration if and when the likelihood of such non-payment is projected to increase or decrease. The resultant alteration of the credit rating could be by a notch but often as much as a few notches.

F) Rise and Fall in General Economy and Markets

The credit rating is subject to alteration if there is a rise/ fall in the general economy and/ or the markets, of e.g. real estate or interest rates, inducing the issuer's revenues/ expenses to increase/ decrease and vice versa, etc. The resultant alteration of the credit rating is usually by a notch, with possibility of a few notches if and when the change is exceptionally large.

G) Various Events

The credit rating is subject to alteration on occurrence of various events, such as change in the issuer's sponsor or asset manager, M&A and other organizational change, accident, violation of the law, litigation, legal/ regulatory change, natural disaster, etc., which are unforeseeable at the time when the credit rating is determined, causing a significant change on the issuer's business bases, financial grounds, etc. The resultant alteration of the credit rating could be by a notch but more often than not as much as a few notches.
