

Japan Credit Rating Agency, Ltd. (JCR) announces the following credit rating.

AEON Housing Loan Service Co., Ltd. (security code: -)

<Affirmation>

Long-term Issuer Rating: A
Outlook: Stable
CP: J-1

Rationale

- (1) AEON Housing Loan Service Co., Ltd. ("AHLS") is a consolidated subsidiary of AEON Financial Service Co., Ltd. ("AFS"), which assumes the comprehensive financial business of the AEON Group, and provides commercial loans for investment condominiums. Given the degree of AFS's involvement in AHLS and AHLS's managerial importance in the AFS Group (the "Group"), JCR considers AHLS's long-term issuer rating to be at the same level as the Group's creditworthiness, which is deemed to be equivalent to the rating of A.
- (2) As regards the degree of AFS's involvement in AHLS, AFS indirectly holds 100% voting rights in AHLS and dispatches directors to the latter, which indicate their strong unity in terms of managerial decision-making and business administration. As for AHLS's managerial importance in the Group, AHLS is functionally extremely important as it plays the role of complementing AFS's financial services by providing commercial loans for investment condominiums.
- (3) AHLS boasts a strong market position and competitiveness for investment condominium loans. Amid robust demand for such loans, it has leveraged its sales channels among small- and medium-sized real estate firms to achieve relatively rapid growth in transaction volume. While facing somewhat slower growth, it is making such efforts as reviewing marketability and establishing new sales bases in Osaka. JCR will closely watch whether AHLS can maintain a high level of transaction volume and continue steady growth in sales assets amid intense interest rate competition.
- (4) Earnings capacity is relatively stable. Temporary revenue from the securitization of receivables accounts for a reasonably high proportion of operating revenue, but recurring revenue backed by investment condominium loan receivables is the main source of operating revenue. The extremely low level of bad debt-related expenses also underpins earnings capacity. Although rising interest rates are projected to result in smaller gain on the sale of securitization, JCR assumes that AHLS can maintain a certain level of ordinary profit as recurring revenue is expected to increase on the back of a solid transaction volume.
- (5) Assets are highly sound. The credit management policy is prudent, and debtors are mainly people with high creditworthiness. As for properties as collateral, AHLS conservatively selects projects with high property value. In response to soaring real estate prices, it is reassessing capitalization rates and conditions for target railway lines but strictly maintains a careful credit stance. The ratios of delinquent receivables and bad debt write-offs remain stable at low levels, and bad debt-related expenses are at an extremely low level relative to operating assets.
- (6) Capital adequacy is decent. JCR-adjusted capital adequacy ratio remains at a certain level, and AHLS has sufficient capital adequacy relative to risks. Looking ahead, capital adequacy ratio may decline as assets will increase with a decrease in securitization. JCR assumes that capital adequacy can be maintained at a decent level. Concerns about liquidity are small. AHLS has sufficient credit lines mainly from AEON Bank, Ltd. and AFS.

3

The Main Assumptions and Principles used in Constructing the Procedures and Methodologies used to Determine the Credit Rating as Required by Paragraph (a)(1)(ii)(C) of Rule 17g-7

- The credit rating methodology assumes, in principle, to be applied to assess the likelihood of a given debt payment in light of its issuer's condition and business environment, etc. in the relevant future. There is certain limitation, however, in the time horizon that the rating foresees.
- The credit rating methodology assumes, in principle, that the factors posted in the below are particularly important for such likelihood to be determined, and that the rating determination is made by evaluating each of them not only quantitatively but also employing qualitative analyses.

A) Business Bases

The likelihood of a given debt payment is highly conditional to its issuer's business bases - how they can be maintained/ expanded into the future and thereby secure earnings and cash flows in adequacy and in a sustainable way.

B) Financial Grounds and Asset Quality

The likelihood of debt payment is highly dependent on the degree of the issuer's indebtedness and loss absorption capacity in terms of equity capital. Also notable is that a financial institution might see a significant loss of financial grounds as a result of changes in value of the assets under its possession.

C) Liquidity Positions

The likelihood of debt payment is highly dependent on the adequacy of the issuer's cash and other sources of repayment (liquidity positions).

D) Related Parties' Status and Stance of Support/ Assistance for the Issuer

The likelihood of debt payment is affected one way or the other by the issuer's related parties such as parent company, subsidiary, guarantor, and the government of the issuer's business domicile, etc. - by their own conditions and/ or position of support/ assistance for the issuer.

E) Order of Seniority in Debt Payment

The likelihood of debt payment can be different between given debts of the same issuer. The likelihood of debt payment for an individual debt is dependent on the issuer's discretion, and/ or its rank relative to other debts of the same issuer in the order of seniority in principal/ interest payment which is determined by design as financial product or by laws, etc.

4 The Potential Limitations of the Credit Rating as Required by Paragraph (a)(1)(ii)(D) of Rule 17g-7

- The credit rating herewith presented by JCR is its summary opinion with regard to the likelihood of given debt payment and hence not necessarily a perfect representation of such likelihood. The credit rating is not intended to estimate the probability of default or the loss on given default, either.
- The objective of the credit rating herewith presented does not include any concerns other than the likelihood of debt payment, such as risks of price changes, market liquidity, etc.
- The credit rating herewith presented is necessary to be reviewed along with possible changes of the issuer of rated objects in its business performance and/ or circumstances which include regulatory environment, and hence subject to possible alteration.

The resultant alteration of the credit rating is usually by a notch, with possibility of a few notches if and when the change in the business bases is large.

B) Financial Grounds and Asset Quality

The credit rating is subject to alteration if the issuer increases/ decreases its debt/ capital or vice versa and thereby makes its individual debt payment liability less or more bearable and its loss absorption capacity into the future decreased or increased. Also, the changes in the quality of asset under the issuer's holding may affect the credit rating, since such changes could raise or lower the likelihood of future loss of the issuer's financial grounds. The resultant alteration of the credit rating is usually by a notch, with possibility of a few notches if and when the change in the financial grounds and/ or asset quality is large.

C) Liquidity Positions

The credit rating is subject to alteration if there is a change in the issuer's financial management policy or in the relations with fund procurement sources and the change thereby makes its liquidity positions improve or deteriorate. The resultant alteration of the credit rating is usually by a notch, with possibility of a few notches if and when the change is large.

D) Related Parties' Status and Stance of Support/ Assistance for the Issuer

The credit rating is subject to alteration if there is a change in the issuer's parent company or subsidiary, guarantor or other provider of credit enhancement, or the government of the issuer's business domicile, or other related parties' own conditions and/ or position of support/ assistance for the issuer, and the change thereby makes its business bases, financial grounds and/ or liquidity positions improve or deteriorate, and/ or making the effectiveness of guarantee and other credit enhancement improve or deteriorate. The resultant alteration of the credit rating is usually a notch, with possibility of a few notches if and when the change is large.

E) Order of Seniority in Debt Payment and Non-Payment Forgiven by Contract

The credit rating is subject to alteration if there is a change in the rated debt's status in the order of seniority relative to other debts caused by the improvement/ deterioration of the issuer's financial condition. The resultant alteration of the credit rating is usually a notch, with possibility of a few notches if and when the change is large. Also, in case of the financial products for which non-payment of interest/ principal is contractually permissible, the credit rating is subject to alteration if and when the likelihood of such non-payment is projected to increase or decrease. The resultant alteration of the credit rating could be by a notch but often as much as a few notches.

F) Rise and Fall in General Economy and Markets

The credit rating is subject to alteration if there is a rise/ fall in the general economy and/ or the markets inducing the issuer's revenues/ expenses to increase/ decrease and vice versa, etc. The resultant alteration of the credit rating is usually by a notch, with possibility of a few notches if and when the change is exceptionally large.

G) Various Events
