

Japan Credit Rating Agency, Ltd. (JCR) announces the following credit rating.

TOKYU REIT, Inc. (security code: 8957)

<Affirmation>

Long-term Issuer Rating: AA-
Outlook: Stable
Bonds: AA-

Rationale

- (1) TOKYU REIT, Inc. ("TOKYU REIT") is a J-REIT sponsored by TOKYU CORPORATION ("TOKYU"). Under the investment policy of "investment in highly competitive properties in areas with strong growth potential," TOKYU REIT invests in office buildings, retail facilities, residences, etc. located in the Tokyo metropolitan area, especially in the 5 central Tokyo wards and the areas serviced by the Tokyu rail network (the "Tokyu Areas"). Also, in collaboration with its sponsor TOKYU, it sets forth a goal to realize the "Capital Re-investment Model with an aim to achieve growth through value enhancement of the Tokyu Areas". The portfolio currently consists 29 properties, including 18 office buildings, 7 retail facilities and 1 complex, with a total acquisition price of 249.5 billion yen.
- (2) Real estate prices remain high, and TOKYU REIT has maintained the stance of selective investment also under the severe acquisition environment. Quality of properties in the portfolio has improved through the asset replacement as shown that it acquired two properties including additional acquisition of Tokyu Bancho Building from the sponsor and one property from an external party, and disposed, on the other hand, four properties (also including disposition by phases) including REVE Nakameguro (land with leasehold interest) after the period ended July 2024. With regard to the properties held by TOKYU REIT, it has many office buildings located in prime areas centered on the five wards in Tokyo metropolitan area and the ratio of fixed rents for retail facilities is almost 100%. On the ground of these facts, JCR considers that TOKYU REIT will be able to continue the leasing business operation in a stable manner. On the financial front, continuing sound financial operation can be ensured from conservative LTV control, trends in unrealized gains and details of financing of interest-bearing debt. Based on the above, JCR has affirmed the ratings on TOKYU REIT with a Stable outlook.
- (3) As for external growth, properties acquired with sponsor support including sponsor pipelines account for approximately 70% (on a cumulative acquisition price basis). JCR is continuing to pay attention to the portfolio management leveraging the close relations with the sponsor group. In terms of internal growth, TOKYU REIT maintained a high occupancy rate, standing at 98.5%, the latest rate as at the end of March 2025. After moving out of major tenants in Aoyama Oval Building, leasing of vacant lots is consistently making progress, and thereby it can probably maintain a high occupancy level into the future. Furthermore, an increase in rent can also be expected in the future because the office market environment in the five wards in the Tokyo metropolitan area is also in an improvement trend. JCR will also monitor the trend in the upside potential of rent in the future, and the status of CAPEX investment.
- (4) The total assets LTV was 43.2% as at the end of the period ended January 2025 (the same applies hereinafter), which has been controlled since the listing at less than 50%, the upper limit on a normal basis set by the asset manager. TOKYU REIT has a sufficient financial buffer amounting 93 billion yen (unrealized gain ratio: 38.9%). As for debt finance, TOKYU REIT keeps good business relations with financial institutions, realizing an average remaining period to maturity of interest-bearing debt of 3.99 years, a long-term fixed interest rate ratio of 97.7%, an average interest rate of 0.78%, etc. Given also the prolonged terms of debts, adoption of fixed interest rates and staggered repayment due dates, JCR considers there are no particular concerns over the financials at present.

The Main Assumptions and Principles used in Constructing the Procedures and Methodologies used to Determine the Credit Rating as Required by Paragraph (a)(1)(ii)(C) of Rule 17g-7

- The credit rating methodology assumes, in principle, to be applied to assess the likelihood of a given debt payment in light of its issuer's condition and market environment, etc. in the relevant future. There is certain limitation, however, in the time horizon that the rating foresees
- The credit rating methodology assumes, in principle, that the factors posted in the below are particularly important for such likelihood to be determined, and that the rating determination is made by evaluating each of them not only quantitatively but also employing qualitative analyses.

A) Portfolios

The likelihood of a given debt payment is highly conditional to its issuer's portfolios - how they can be maintained/ enhanced into the future and thereby secure earnings and cash flows in adequacy and in a sustainable way.

B) Financial Grounds and Asset Quality

The likelihood of debt payment is highly dependent on the degree of the issuer's indebtedness and loss absorption capacity in terms of equity capital. Also notable is that a J-REIT might see a significant loss of financial grounds as a result of changes in value of the assets under its possession.

C) Liquidity Positions

The likelihood of debt payment is highly dependent on the adequacy of the issuer's cash and other sources of repayment (liquidity positions) including certainty of refinancing.

D) Related Parties' Status and Stance of Support/ Assistance for the Issuer

The likelihood of debt payment is affected one way or the other by the issuer's related parties such as sponsor, asset manager, guarantor, and the government of the issuer's business domicile, etc. - by their own conditions and/ or position of support/ assistance for the issuer.

E) Order of Seniority in Debt Payment

The likelihood of debt payment can be different between given debts of the same issuer. The likelihood of debt payment for an individual debt is dependent on the issuer's discretion, and/ or its rank relative to other debts of the same issuer in the order of seniority in principal/ interest payment which is determined by design as financial product or by laws, etc.

4 The Potential Limitations of the Credit Rating as Required by Paragraph (a)(1)(ii)(D) of Rule 17g-7

- The credit rating herewith presented by JCR is its summary opinion with regard to the likelihood of given debt payment and hence not necessarily a perfect representation of such likelihood. The credit rating is not intended to estimate the probability of default or the loss on given default, either.
- The objective of the credit rating herewith presented does not include any concerns other than the likelihood of debt payment, such as risks of price changes, market liquidity, etc.
- The credit rating herewith presented is necessary to be reviewed along with possible changes of the issuer of rated objects in its business performance and/ or circumstances which include regulatory environment, and hence subject to possible alteration.

11 Explanation or Measure of the Potential Volatility of the Credit Rating as Required by Paragraph (a)(1)(ii)(K) of Rule 17g-7

A) Portfolios

The credit rating is subject to alteration if there is improvement or deterioration of quality, competitive strength and diversification in the issuer's portfolios, since its revenue, etc. may improve or deteriorate by the change in its investment strategies, tenants' preferences, competitive situation, or a technological innovation. The resultant alteration of the credit rating is usually by a notch, with possibility of a few notches if and when the change in the portfolios is large.

B) Financial Grounds and Asset Quality

The credit rating is subject to alteration if the issuer increases/ decreases its debt/ capital or vice versa and thereby makes its individual debt payment liability less or more bearable and its loss absorption capacity into the future decreased or increased. Also, the changes in the quality of asset under the issuer's holding may affect the credit rating, since such changes could raise or lower the likelihood of future loss of the issuer's financial grounds. The resultant alteration of the credit rating is usually by a notch, with possibility of a few notches if and when the change in the financial grounds and/ or asset quality is large.

C) Liquidity Positions

The credit rating is subject to alteration if there is a change in the issuer's financial management policy or in the relations with fund procurement sources and the change thereby makes its liquidity positions improve or deteriorate. The resultant alteration of the credit rating is usually by a notch, with possibility of a few notches if and when the change is large.

D) Related Parties' Status and Stance of Support/ Assistance for the Issuer

The credit rating is subject to alteration if there is a change in the issuer's sponsor or asset manager, guarantor or other provider of credit enhancement, or the government of the issuer's business domicile, or other related parties' own conditions and/ or position of support/ assistance for the issuer, and the change thereby makes its portfolios, financial grounds and/ or liquidity positions improve or deteriorate, and/ or making the effectiveness of guarantee and other credit enhancement improve or deteriorate. The resultant alteration of the credit rating is usually a notch, with possibility of a few notches if and when the change is large.

E) Order of Seniority in Debt Payment and Non-Payment Forgiven by Contract

The credit rating is subject to alteration if there is a change in the rated debt's status in the order of seniority relative to other debts caused by the improvement/ deterioration of the issuer's financial condition. The resultant alteration of the credit rating is usually a notch, with possibility of a few notches if and when the change is large. Also, in case of the financial products for which non-payment of interest/ principal is contractually permissible, the credit rating is subject to alteration if and when the likelihood of such non-payment is projected to increase or decrease. The resultant alteration of the credit rating could be by a notch but often as much as a few notches.

F) Rise and Fall in General Economy and Markets

The credit rating is subject to alteration if there is a rise/ fall in the general economy and/ or the markets, of e.g. real estate or interest rates, inducing the issuer's revenues/ expenses to increase/ decrease and vice versa, etc. The resultant alteration of the credit rating is usually by a notch, with possibility of a few notches if and when the change is exceptionally large.

G) Various Events

The credit rating is subject to alteration on occurrence of various events, such as change in the issuer's sponsor or asset manager, M&A and other organizational change, accident, violation of the law, litigation, legal/ regulatory change, natural disaster, etc., which are unforeseeable at the time when the credit rating is determined, causing a significant change on the issuer's business bases, financial grounds, etc. The resultant alteration of the credit rating could be by a notch but more often than not as much as a few notches.
