

Japan Credit Rating Agency, Ltd. (JCR) announces the following credit rating.

Shinsho Corporation (security code: 8075)

<Rating Change>

Long-term Issuer Rating: from BBB- to BBB
Outlook: from Positive to Stable

<Affirmation>

CP: J-2

Rationale

- (1) Shinsho Corporation (the “Company”) is a trading company under the direct control and an equity-method affiliate of Kobe Steel, Ltd. (“Kobe Steel”; 35.9% voting rights as of March 31, 2023). As a core trading company, the Company assumes sales of products of the Kobe Steel Group (the “Group”) and also imports steel raw materials, delivers materials and equipment and so forth for the Group. The Company is a listed company and Kobe Steel’s control over and degree of involvement in it are not high. However, JCR has reflected Kobe Steel’s creditworthiness in the Company’s ratings because its significance in the business operations of Kobe Steel can be recognized.
- (2) The Company’s earnings capacity has grown. Due to price hike of raw material and fuel prices, domestic steel prices are rising, and performance of the Iron & Steel division is expected to remain at a high level compared to the levels before the fiscal year ended March 2021 (FY2020). In the Nonferrous Metals division, the business foundation has strengthened through enhancing processing capacity of aluminum in China and Vietnam. Furthermore, in October 2023, the Company acquired Inagaki Shoten, a specialized trading company for copper and aluminum. JCR believes that synergy effects are expected to come out mainly in the sales side. On the financial front, the Company is taking time for improving equity ratio. It will likely gradually be improving going forward through expansion of equity capital along with profit accumulation. JCR views that the Company’s standalone creditworthiness has become higher from the past. In October 2023, Kobe Steel’s ratings were upgraded by one notch to A with Stable outlook. Based on the above, JCR has upgraded the ratings on the Company by one notch to BBB with Stable outlook.
- (3) Ordinary profit for FY2023 is projected to be 10 billion yen, down 21.1% year on year, indicating the second highest following that for FY2022 marked the record high. The Iron & Steel division is expected to generate solid profits against the backdrop of domestic steel market conditions hovering in a high range, and this will likely support the Company’s overall performance. For FY2024 onward, it is assumed that the Company can ensure profits exceeding those before FY2020. The Iron & Steel division appears to perform well continuously and JCR also views that sales volume of the Nonferrous Metals division will recover as adjustments of semiconductor-related demand come to the end.
- (4) At the end of the second quarter of FY2023, the equity ratio was 19.4%. DER has made a steady improvement to 0.9x from 1.3x at the end of FY2019 when JCR downgraded the ratings on the Company last time. The Company’s cash generation capacity has increased, and the financial base will likely be strengthened further.

- Please see the news release. If the credit rating is a private rating, please see the report for private rating.

3 The Main Assumptions and Principles used in Constructing the Procedures and Methodologies used to Determine the Credit Rating as Required by Paragraph (a)(1)(ii)(C) of Rule 17g-7

- The credit rating methodology assumes, in principle, to be applied to assess the likelihood of a given debt payment in light of its issuer's condition and business environment, etc. in the relevant future. There is certain limitation, however, in the time horizon that the rating foresees.
- The credit rating methodology assumes, in principle, that the factors posted in the below are particularly important for such likelihood to be determined, and that the rating determination is made by evaluating each of them not only quantitatively but also employing qualitative analyses.

A) Business Bases

The likelihood of a given debt payment is highly conditional to its issuer's business bases - how they can be maintained/ expanded into the future and thereby secure earnings and cash flows in adequacy and in a sustainable way.

B) Financial Grounds and Asset Quality

The likelihood of debt payment is highly dependent on the degree of the issuer's indebtedness and loss absorption capacity in terms of equity capital. Also notable is that a financial institution might see a significant loss of financial grounds as a result of changes in value of the assets under its possession.

C) Liquidity Positions

The likelihood of debt payment is highly dependent on the adequacy of the issuer's cash and other sources of repayment (liquidity positions).

D) Related Parties' Status and Stance of Support/ Assistance for the Issuer

The likelihood of debt payment is affected one way or the other by the issuer's related parties such as parent company, subsidiary, guarantor, and the government of the issuer's business domicile, etc. - by their own conditions and/ or position of support/ assistance for the issuer.

E) Order of Seniority in Debt Payment

The likelihood of debt payment can be different between given debts of the same issuer. The likelihood of debt payment for an individual debt is dependent on the issuer's discretion, and/ or its rank relative to other debts of the same issuer in the order of seniority in principal/ interest payment which is determined by design as financial product or by laws, etc.

4 The Potential Limitations of the Credit Rating as Required by Paragraph (a)(1)(ii)(D) of Rule 17g-7

- The credit rating herewith presented by JCR is its summary opinion with regard to the likelihood of given debt payment and hence not necessarily a perfect representation of such likelihood. - The objective of the credit rating herewith presented does not include any concerns other than the likelihood of debt payment, such as risks of price changes, market liquidity, etc.
