

Japan Credit Rating Agency, Ltd. (JCR) announces the following credit rating.

THE BANK OF KOCHI, LTD. (security code: 8416)

<Affirmation>

Long-term Issuer Rating: BBB
Outlook: Stable

Rationale

- (1) THE BANK OF KOCHI, LTD. (the "Bank") is a regional bank II headquartered in Kochi City, Kochi Prefecture with a fund volume of 1 trillion yen. It has a decent business base in the prefecture with a market share of the upper-10% range for deposits (excluding Japan Post Bank) and the mid-20% range for loans. In addition, capital adequacy is maintained at a level commensurate with the rating, and these factors support the rating. Currently, downward pressure on core earnings is intensifying. In terms of profit and loss, the margin for credit costs may decline, but JCR sees that financial soundness is unlikely to be seriously impaired.
- (2) The Bank's core net business income (excluding gains on cancellation of investment trusts) in the first half of the fiscal year ending March 2023 (FY2022) declined only slightly year on year, and ROA (based on core net business income) was maintained at around 0.2%. For the full year, the balance of funds for securities is expected to deteriorate due to an increase in foreign currency funding costs, and core net business income may fall below the level of the previous fiscal year. From FY2023 onward, scheduled repayments of the COVID-19-related loans will begin in earnest. In addition to the ongoing decline in profitable consumer loans, because growth in loans to the solar power generation business and medical/welfare-related fields, areas of promotion, has also been sluggish, uncertainty about the future of interest income has been increasing. In order to strengthen non-interest income, the Bank is reinforcing its promotion system, focusing on the individual sector. The Bank is also working on enhancement of non-face-to-face channels by pushing ahead with DX, reorganizing stores, and cutting costs by streamlining operations. In conjunction with the progress of such measures to improve earnings, JCR will closely monitor developments in core net business income.
- (3) The non-performing loans ratio disclosed under the Financial Reconstruction Act was high at 4% at the end of September 2022. Credit costs in FY2021 were halved from the previous fiscal year, which increased by the impact of the COVID-19 pandemic. Without the impact of conservatively revising the allowance method, the level was extremely restrained. Although the ratio remained at a low level until third quarter in FY2022, given many other borrowers requiring caution with a large amount of unsecured credits, attention should be paid to changes in the business conditions of borrowers due to the steep rise in raw materials prices and other factors. In securities investment, the Bank keeps down interest rate risk while securing earnings by investing in subordinated bonds and investment trusts with relatively high yields. Although valuation losses on foreign currency-denominated bonds have expanded due to rises in U.S. interest rates, the bonds are expected to be mostly redeemed in the next few years with a short duration. For the time being, the Bank intends to control the outstanding balance of securities at a certain level, and JCR believes it is unlikely that the market-risk will greatly increase.
- (4) The Bank's consolidated core capital ratio adjusted by excluding public funds, losses on valuation of other securities, etc. reached the upper-7% level at the end of September 2022, which is relatively high among regional banks in the BBB rating category. The Bank issued preferred stock in March 2023, and it will likely be able to maintain a level commensurate with the rating, even after taking into account the future payment of public funds.

The Main Assumptions and Principles used in Constructing the Procedures and Methodologies used to Determine the Credit Rating as Required by Paragraph (a)(1)(ii)(C) of Rule 17g-7

- The credit rating methodology assumes, in principle, to be applied to assess the likelihood of a given debt payment in light of its issuer's condition and business environment, etc. in the relevant future. There is certain limitation, however, in the time horizon that the rating foresees.
- The credit rating methodology assumes, in principle, that the factors posted in the below are particularly important for such likelihood to be determined, and that the rating determination is made by evaluating each of them not only quantitatively but also employing qualitative analyses.

A) Business Bases

The likelihood of a given debt payment is highly conditional to its issuer's business bases - how they can be maintained/ expanded into the future and thereby secure earnings and cash flows in adequacy and in a sustainable way.

B) Financial Grounds and Asset Quality

The likelihood of debt payment is highly dependent on the degree of the issuer's indebtedness and loss absorption capacity in terms of equity capital. Also notable is that a financial institution might see a significant loss of financial grounds as a result of changes in value of the assets under its possession.

C) Liquidity Positions

The likelihood of debt payment is highly dependent on the adequacy of the issuer's cash and other sources of repayment (liquidity positions).

D) Related Parties' Status and Stance of Support/ Assistance for the Issuer

The likelihood of debt payment is affected one way or the other by the issuer's related parties such as parent company, subsidiary, guarantor, and the government of the issuer's business domicile, etc. - by their own conditions and/ or position of support/ assistance for the issuer.

E) Order of Seniority in Debt Payment

The likelihood of debt payment can be different between given debts of the same issuer. The likelihood of debt payment for an individual debt is dependent on the issuer's discretion, and/ or its rank relative to other debts of the same issuer in the order of seniority in principal/ interest payment which is determined by design as financial product or by laws, etc.

4 The Potential Limitations of the Credit Rating as Required by Paragraph (a)(1)(ii)(D) of Rule 17g-7

- The credit rating herewith presented by JCR is its summary opinion with regard to the likelihood of given debt payment and hence not necessarily a perfect representation of such likelihood. The credit rating is not intended to estimate the probability of default or the loss on given default, either.
- The objective of the credit rating herewith presented does not include any concerns other than the likelihood of debt payment, such as risks of price changes, market liquidity, etc.
- The credit rating herewith presented is necessary to be reviewed along with possible changes of the issuer of rated objects in its business performance and/ or circumstances which include regulatory environment, and hence subject to possible alteration.

The resultant alteration of the credit rating is usually by a notch, with possibility of a few notches if and when the change in the business bases is large.

B) Financial Grounds and Asset Quality

The credit rating is subject to alteration if the issuer increases/ decreases its debt/ capital or vice versa and thereby makes its individual debt payment liability less or more bearable and its loss absorption capacity into the future decreased or increased. Also, the changes in the quality of asset under the issuer's holding may affect the credit rating, since such changes could raise or lower the likelihood of future loss of the issuer's financial grounds. The resultant alteration of the credit rating is usually by a notch, with possibility of a few notches if and when the change in the financial grounds and/ or asset quality is large.

C) Liquidity Positions

The credit rating is subject to alteration if there is a change in the issuer's financial management policy or in the relations with fund procurement sources and the change thereby makes its liquidity positions improve or deteriorate. The resultant alteration of the credit rating is usually a notch, with possibility of a few notches if and when the change is large.

E) Order of Seniority in Debt Payment and Non-Payment Forgiven by Contract

The credit rating is subject to alteration if there is a change in the rated debt's status in the order of seniority relative to other debts caused by the improvement/ deterioration of the issuer's financial condition. The resultant alteration of the credit rating is usually a notch, with possibility of a few notches if and when the change is large. Also, in case of the financial products for which non-payment of interest/ principal is contractually permissible, the credit rating is subject to alteration if and when the likelihood of such non-payment is projected to increase or decrease.
