

Japan Credit Rating Agency, Ltd. (JCR) announces the following credit rating.

The Shoko Chukin Bank, Ltd. (security code: -)

<Assignment>

Bonds (Tier 1 with loss absorption clause): A

Rationale

- (1) The Shoko Chukin Bank, Ltd. (the "Bank") is a special company of which issued shares are held by small and medium-sized enterprise cooperatives, etc. All shares held by the national government were sold in June 2025. The issuer rating reflects a standalone creditworthiness equivalent to "AA-" with consideration given to the possibility of special support from the government. The extent of the rating upgrade in rating due to government support is set at one notch, taking into account the possibility of policy support based on the crisis response reserve measures.
- (2) The subordinated bonds are Tier 1 instruments eligible under Basel III with the write-down clause in addition to the subordination clause attached. The write-down clause will discharge the Bank from all or part of the principal and interest payment obligations for the subordinated bonds in principle (a) when consolidated common equity Tier 1 ratio is below 5.125%, (b) when the Bank is at the point of non-viability, i.e. when the Prime Minister of Japan confirms that Measures under Item (ii) provided for by Article 102, Measures under Item (iii) provided for by Article 102, or Specified Measures under Item (ii) provided for by Article 126-2 of the Deposit Insurance Act need to be applied to the Bank, or (c) when insolvency proceedings are commenced. Interest payment of the subordinated bonds is forcibly stopped if the amount available for distribution is insufficient. In addition, the Bank can suspend interest payment of the subordinated bonds at its own discretion.
- (3) The notching baseline for the subordinated bonds is the "AA" long-term issuer rating. The rating of the Bank is upgraded by one notch from "AA-" on a standalone creditworthiness, mainly reflecting the government's involvement in crisis response operations, that is, policy support premised on measures such as crisis response reserves to ensure the smooth execution of the operations. The possibility of government support in the case of debt waiver or suspension of interest payments on the subordinated bonds is not factored in. On the other hand, regarding notching up to loss occurrence, it was set at three notches, considering the subordination and the risk of suspension of interest payment. The risk of interest payment suspension is considered for issuers subject to capital buffer regulations, given the possibility of under-accumulation of the buffer and the prevailing circumstances, including the authorities' intentions, which may lead to an interest payment suspension. The Bank is not subject to capital adequacy ratio regulations; however, the criteria for assessing the soundness of management based on the Shoko Chukin Bank Act stipulate that "the consolidated capital buffer ratio should aim to be above the minimum level, and efforts shall be made to strengthen capital adequacy." JCR assumes that the Bank will focus on strengthening its equity capital based on a disciplined capital policy in line with capital requirements applicable to private-sector banks.

The Main Assumptions and Principles used in Constructing the Procedures and Methodologies used to Determine the Credit Rating as Required by Paragraph (a)(1)(ii)(C) of Rule 17g-7

- The credit rating methodology assumes, in principle, to be applied to assess the likelihood of a given debt payment in light of its issuer's condition and business environment, etc. in the relevant future. There is certain limitation, however, in the time horizon that the rating foresees.
- The credit rating methodology assumes, in principle, that the factors posted in the below are particularly important for such likelihood to be determined, and that the rating determination is made by evaluating each of them not only quantitatively but also employing qualitative analyses.

A) Business Bases

The likelihood of a given debt payment is highly conditional to its issuer's business bases - how they can be maintained/ expanded into the future and thereby secure earnings and cash flows in adequacy and in a sustainable way.

B) Financial Grounds and Asset Quality

The likelihood of debt payment is highly dependent on the degree of the issuer's indebtedness and loss absorption capacity in terms of equity capital. Also notable is that a financial institution might see a significant loss of financial grounds as a result of changes in value of the assets under its possession.

C) Liquidity Positions

The likelihood of debt payment is highly dependent on the adequacy of the issuer's cash and other sources of repayment (liquidity positions).

D) Related Parties' Status and Stance of Support/ Assistance for the Issuer

The likelihood of debt payment is affected one way or the other by the issuer's related parties such as parent company, subsidiary, guarantor, and the government of the issuer's business domicile, etc. - by their own conditions and/ or position of support/ assistance for the issuer.

E) Order of Seniority in Debt Payment

The likelihood of debt payment can be different between given debts of the same issuer. The likelihood of debt payment for an individual debt is dependent on the issuer's discretion, and/ or its rank relative to other debts of the same issuer in the order of seniority in principal/ interest payment which is determined by design as financial product or by laws, etc.

4 The Potential Limitations of the Credit Rating as Required by Paragraph (a)(1)(ii)(D) of Rule 17g-7

- The credit rating herewith presented is necessary to be reviewed along with possible changes of the issuer of rated objects in its business performance and/ or circumstances which include regulatory environment, and hence subject to possible alteration.
