

Japan Credit Rating Agency, Ltd. (JCR) announces the following credit rating.

THE TOHOKU BANK, LTD. (security code: 8349)

<Affirmation>

Long-term Issuer Rating: BBB+
Outlook: Stable

Rationale

- (1) THE TOHOKU BANK, LTD. (the "Bank") is a regional bank headquartered in Morioka City, Iwate Prefecture with a fund volume of approximately 940 billion yen. It has certain presence in the prefecture with about 15% market share for loans. The long-term issuer rating reflects the Bank's stable business base in its local market and reasonable earnings capacity, among other factors. JCR will watch closely to see whether the Bank can further enhance its earning capacity, which is on an improving trend, while curbing credit costs, and whether it can restore its capital adequacy through the accumulation of retained earnings and other measures.
- (2) Earnings capacity is at a level commensurate with the rating. For the first nine months of the fiscal year ending March 2026 (FY2025), core net business income (excluding gains/losses on investment trust cancellations; the same hereinafter) increased by the mid-20% range year on year. Although expenses are increasing, they are being offset by growth in net interest income and fee- and commission-related income. ROA (based on core net business income) is in the lower 0.3% range, which is relatively favorable. Although expenses are expected to continue increasing due to the renewal of core banking system and investment in human capital, net interest income is expected to grow on the back of an increase in loans outstanding and an improvement in investment yield on funds, and JCR sees that core net business income will remain firm for the time being.
- (3) The quality of loan assets requires a certain degree of caution. Through initiatives such as providing management improvement support to borrowers, the ratio of non-performing loans ratio disclosed under the Financial Reconstruction Act has declined to the higher 1% range as of the end of December 2025, roughly in line with the average for regional banks. Meanwhile, credit costs have increased since FY2023 compared with previous levels, mainly due to the downgrade of large out-of-prefecture borrowers. Given that a relatively large number of other borrowers requiring caution have sizable unsecured amounts, JCR believes that continued attention needs to be paid to trends in credit costs.
- (4) Risks associated with securities investments are relatively high. The security deposit ratio is in the mid-20% range, slightly higher than the average for regional banks, and since yen-denominated bonds account for just under 90% of the securities portfolio, the interest rate risk on yen-denominated bonds is large relative to capital. Valuation losses on available-for-sale securities, mainly bonds, have been expanding and are exerting some downward pressure on financial flexibility.
- (5) Capital adequacy is low relative to the rating. JCR recognizes the equity content of public preferred shares, which account for about one-quarter of core capital. However, the consolidated core capital ratio, adjusted for valuation losses on available-for-sale securities, stood at just under 7% as of the end of December 2025, down by about 0.6 percentage points from the end of the same month a year earlier. For the time being, careful attention is required to the impact of changes in the interest rate environment on the market value of securities. In addition, the full implementation of the finalization of Basel III and a further increase in outstanding loans are expected to lead to an expansion of risk-weighted assets. That said, JCR believes that it is possible to maintain the current level of capital through the accumulation of retained earnings and other means.

The Main Assumptions and Principles used in Constructing the Procedures and Methodologies used to Determine the Credit Rating as Required by Paragraph (a)(1)(ii)(C) of Rule 17g-7

- The credit rating methodology assumes, in principle, to be applied to assess the likelihood of a given debt payment in light of its issuer's condition and business environment, etc. in the relevant future. There is certain limitation, however, in the time horizon that the rating foresees.
- The credit rating methodology assumes, in principle, that the factors posted in the below are particularly important for such likelihood to be determined, and that the rating determination is made by evaluating each of them not only quantitatively but also employing qualitative analyses.

A) Business Bases

The likelihood of a given debt payment is highly conditional to its issuer's business bases - how they can be maintained/ expanded into the future and thereby secure earnings and cash flows in adequacy and in a sustainable way.

B) Financial Grounds and Asset Quality

The likelihood of debt payment is highly dependent on the degree of the issuer's indebtedness and loss absorption capacity in terms of equity capital. Also notable is that a financial institution might see a significant loss of financial grounds as a result of changes in value of the assets under its possession.

C) Liquidity Positions

The likelihood of debt payment is highly dependent on the adequacy of the issuer's cash and other sources of repayment (liquidity positions).

D) Related Parties' Status and Stance of Support/ Assistance for the Issuer

The likelihood of debt payment is affected one way or the other by the issuer's related parties such as parent company, subsidiary, guarantor, and the government of the issuer's business domicile, etc. - by their own conditions and/ or position of support/ assistance for the issuer.

E) Order of Seniority in Debt Payment

The likelihood of debt payment can be different between given debts of the same issuer. The likelihood of debt payment for an individual debt is dependent on the issuer's discretion, and/ or its rank relative to other debts of the same issuer in the order of seniority in principal/ interest payment which is determined by design as financial product or by laws, etc.

4 The Potential Limitations of the Credit Rating as Required by Paragraph (a)(1)(ii)(D) of Rule 17g-7

- The credit rating herewith presented by JCR is its summary opinion with regard to the likelihood of given debt payment and hence not necessarily a perfect representation of such likelihood. The credit rating is not intended to estimate the probability of default or the loss on given default, either.
- The objective of the credit rating herewith presented does not include any concerns other than the likelihood of debt payment, such as risks of price changes, market liquidity, etc.
- The credit rating herewith presented is necessary to be reviewed along with possible changes of the issuer of rated objects in its business performance and/ or circumstances which include regulatory environment, and hence subject to possible alteration.

The resultant alteration of the credit rating is usually by a notch, with possibility of a few notches if and when the change in the business bases is large.

B) Financial Grounds and Asset Quality

The credit rating is subject to alteration if the issuer increases/ decreases its debt/ capital or vice versa and thereby makes its individual debt payment liability less or more bearable and its loss absorption capacity into the future decreased or increased. Also, the changes in the quality of asset under the issuer's holding may affect the credit rating, since such changes could raise or lower the likelihood of future loss of the issuer's financial grounds. The resultant alteration of the credit rating is usually by a notch, with possibility of a few notches if and when the change in the financial grounds and/ or asset quality is large.

C) Liquidity Positions

The credit rating is subject to alteration if there is a change in the issuer's financial management policy or in the relations with fund procurement sources and the change thereby makes its liquidity positions improve or deteriorate. The resultant alteration of the credit rating is usually by a notch, with possibility of a few notches if and when the change is large.

D) Related Parties' Status and Stance of Support/ Assistance for the Issuer

The credit rating is subject to alteration if there is a change in the issuer's parent company or subsidiary, guarantor or other provider of credit enhancement, or the government of the issuer's business domicile, or other related parties' own conditions and/ or position of support/ assistance for the issuer, and the change thereby makes its business bases, financial grounds and/ or liquidity positions improve or deteriorate, and/ or making the effectiveness of guarantee and other credit enhancement improve or deteriorate. The resultant alteration of the credit rating is usually a notch, with possibility of a few notches if and when the change is large.

E) Order of Seniority in Debt Payment and Non-Payment Forgiven by Contract

The credit rating is subject to alteration if there is a change in the rated debt's status in the order of seniority relative to other debts caused by the improvement/ deterioration of the issuer's financial condition. The resultant alteration of the credit rating is usually a notch, with possibility of a few notches if and when the change is large. Also, in case of the financial products for which non-payment of interest/ principal is contractually permissible, the credit rating is subject to alteration if and when the likelihood of such non-payment is projected to increase or decrease. The resultant alteration of the credit rating could be by a notch but often as much as a few notches.

F) Rise and Fall in General Economy and Markets

The credit rating is subject to alteration if there is a rise/ fall in the general economy and/ or the markets inducing the issuer's revenues/ expenses to increase/ decrease and vice versa, etc. The resultant alteration of the credit rating is usually by a notch, with possibility of a few notches if and when the change is exceptionally large.

G) Various Events

The credit rating is subject to alteration on occurrence of various events, such as change in the issuer's major shareholders, M&A and other organizational change, accident, violation of the law, litigation, legal/ regulatory change, natural disaster, etc., which are unforeseeable at the time when the credit rating is determined, causing a significant change on the issuer's business bases, financial grounds, etc. The resultant alteration of the credit rating could be by a notch but more often than not as much as a few notches.
