

Japan Credit Rating Agency, Ltd. (JCR) announces the following credit rating.

IDEC CORPORATION (security code: 6652)

<Affirmation>

Long-term Issuer Rating: A-
Outlook: Stable

Rationale

- (1) IDEC CORPORATION (the "Company") is a full-line manufacturer of control equipment for factory automation. It has established a solid business foundation as indicated by the large market share for operation switches and other products. Recently, the Company has been working to strengthen the solutions business and boost overseas sales. It is expanding the scope of business through M&As and alliances as shown that it made APEM Group, which manufactures industrial switches and so forth mainly in Europe and North America, a wholly owned subsidiary in 2017, and also made France-based ez-Wheel SAS, which engages in self-propelled autonomous wheels, a subsidiary in August 2023.
- (2) The Company's business performance has deteriorated but will likely improve over the medium term. In response to reaction to active capital investments in the last fiscal year, growing concern over slowdown in global economy and others, some customers are continuing to adjust their inventories. Having said that, demand of the Company's products is expected to expand from a medium-term perspective because of progress in automatization and labor-saving in production and logistics sites, and the performance will likely improve in the fiscal year ending March 2025 (FY2024). Financial structure is on the trend toward improvement due to expansion of equity capital from profit accumulation and others. Based on the above, JCR has affirmed the rating on the Company with Stable outlook.
- (3) The Company projects net sales to decrease 10.6% from the previous fiscal year to 75 billion yen and operating income to decrease 38.5% from the previous fiscal year to 8.6 billion yen for FY2023. Profits are expected to decrease affected by deterioration in the environment in receiving orders. Having said that, operating income will likely continue to exceed the levels before FY2020 supported by affluent orders on hand. For FY2024 onward, JCR views that the performance will improve as the demand picks up; however, attention needs to be paid to the fact that the economic outlook is becoming increasingly unforeseeable in China, one of the major markets. In addition, JCR will continue to watch whether the Company can continue to strengthen the earnings capacity through expansion of the solutions business and production reforms, among others.
- (4) At the end of FY2022, the Company's equity ratio and net DER improved to 56.1% and 0.12x from 51.2% and 0.16x at the end of the previous fiscal year respectively. The equity capital has also increased from the past. Going forward, capital investment aiming to enhance the production capacity and others are expected. However, financial structure will be maintained at a good level given the Company's cash flow generation capacity. Nevertheless, JCR will continue to watch the investment policy including M&A deals.

3 The Main Assumptions and Principles used in Constructing the Procedures and Methodologies used to Determine the Credit Rating as Required by Paragraph (a)(1)(ii)(C) of Rule 17g-7

- The credit rating methodology assumes, in principle, to be applied to assess the likelihood of a given debt payment in light of its issuer's condition and business environment, etc. in the relevant future. There is certain limitation, however, in the time horizon that the rating foresees.
- The credit rating methodology assumes, in principle, that the factors posted in the below are particularly important for such likelihood to be determined, and that the rating determination is made by evaluating each of them not only quantitatively but also employing qualitative analyses.

A) Business Bases

The likelihood of a given debt payment is highly conditional to its issuer's business bases - how they can be maintained/ expanded into the future and thereby secure earnings and cash flows in adequacy and in a sustainable way.

B) Financial Grounds and Asset Quality

The likelihood of debt payment is highly dependent on the degree of the issuer's indebtedness and loss absorption capacity in terms of equity capital. Also notable is that a financial institution might see a significant loss of financial grounds as a result of changes in value of the assets under its possession.

C) Liquidity Positions

The likelihood of debt payment is highly dependent on the adequacy of the issuer's cash and other sources of repayment (liquidity positions).

D) Related Parties' Status and Stance of Support/ Assistance for the Issuer

The likelihood of debt payment is affected one way or the other by the issuer's related parties such as parent company, subsidiary, guarantor, and the government of the issuer's business domicile, etc. - by their own conditions and/ or position of support/ assistance for the issuer.

E) Order of Seniority in Debt Payment

The likelihood of debt payment can be different between given debts of the same issuer. The likelihood of debt payment for an individual debt is dependent on the issuer's discretion, and/ or its rank relative to other debts of the same issuer in the order of seniority in principal/ interest payment which is determined by design as financial product or by laws, etc.
