

Japan Credit Rating Agency, Ltd. (JCR) announces the following credit ratings.

Republic of the Philippines (security code: -)

<Assignment>
Bonds: BBB+

Rationale

The ratings mainly reflect the country's high and sustainable economic growth performance underpinned by solid domestic demand, resilience to external shocks supported by an external debt kept low relative to GDP and the accumulation of foreign exchange reserves, and the government's sound fiscal position. The improvement of the investment environment through infrastructure development had been a long-standing policy issue for the Philippines. However, infrastructure development has accelerated under the Duterte administration amid robust spending based on its Public Investment Program and improved budget execution brought by budget reforms. As part of its efforts to secure the necessary financial resources for its massive public expenditure program, the government has been vigorously pursuing its Comprehensive Tax Reform Program (CTRP). A strengthened tax base and increasing revenues brought by strong economic growth have made infrastructure development possible while maintaining fiscal discipline. JCR holds that the country's fiscal deficit will be maintained at manageable levels and the government debt as a percentage of GDP will keep declining moderately in the future.

The Main Assumptions and Principles used in Constructing the Procedures and Methodologies used to Determine the Credit Rating as Required by Paragraph (a)(1)(ii)(C) of Rule 17g-7

- The credit rating methodology assumes, in principle, to be applied to assess the likelihood of a given debt payment in light of its issuer's condition and business environment, etc. in the relevant future. There is certain limitation, however, in the time horizon that the rating foresees.
- The credit rating methodology assumes, in principle, that the factors posted in the below are particularly important for such likelihood to be determined, and that the rating determination is made by evaluating each of them not only quantitatively but also employing qualitative analyses.

A) Economic Base

The likelihood of a given debt payment is highly conditional to the issuing government's ability to maintain/expand the economic base into the future with maintaining soundness of financial systems.

B) Fiscal Base

The likelihood of a given debt payment is highly correlated to fiscal balance, public debt and other factors of the issuing government's fiscal condition.

C) External Positions

The likelihood of a given debt payment is highly correlated to the liquidity positions which change along with the international balance of payments and the international investment position.

D) Social and Political Bases and Economic Policy

The likelihood of a given debt payment is highly conditional to the social and political stability, effectiveness of economic and monetary policies as well as international economics.

E) Related Parties' Stance of Support/ Assistance for the Government

The likelihood of a given debt payment is affected by the stance of the credit enhancement provider and other related parties with regard to their stance of support/ assistance for the issuing government.

F) Order of Seniority in Debt Payment

The likelihood of debt payment can be different between given debts of the same issuer. The likelihood of debt payment for an individual debt is dependent on the issuing government's will, and/ or its rank relative to other debts of the same government in the order of seniority in principal/ interest payment which is determined by design as financial product or by international practice, etc.

4 The Potential Limitations of the Credit Rating as Required by Paragraph (a)(1)(ii)(D) of Rule 17g-7
